ANTHRACITE MINERS WANT NO COMPROMISE

ARE SET ON ADOPTION OF WAGE SCHEDULE

ASK FOR FIVE DAY WEEK AND AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

ASK PAY AND A HALF FOR ALL OVERTIME IN NEW WAGE CONTRACT

(By United Press)
Atlantic City, N. J., July 30.—Anthracite coal miners increased their demands today and in so doing virtually served notice upon the operators with whom they are conferring over the new wage agreement that no compromise shall be accepted.

The union representatives today asked for a five day week, an eight-hour day and pay and a half for overtime. This request was added to the third in the general list of seven demands drawn up by the miners as the basis for the wage contract to replace that which expired August 30th.

Enlargement of the miners' demands was looked upon today as a virtual ultimatum to the operators that there "will be no backsliding by the union men."

SENATOR DENEEN OUTLINES COMING WORK OF CONGRESS

(By United Press)
Swampscott, Mass., July 30.—The inland waterways proposal and a plan for American adherence to the world court will be enacted into law by congress next winter, Senator Deneen, Illinois, predicted today after a day's visit with President Coolidge at the summer White House.

Deneen's conferences with the president were mostly on economic conditions in the middle west. The Illinois senator reported the corn belt in splendid shape with a large crop and high prices for farm produce in prospect and other sections generally in good condition.

MRS. BERT ZUCCA BURIED AT CUYUNA

Cuyuna, Minn., July 30.—Funeral services were held from the local Swedish Lutheran church for Mrs. Bert Zucca, 48, who died at the Miners' hospital at Crosby Sunday evening following a short illness due to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Zucca, a resident of Cuyuna for the last 15 years, besides her husband, is survived by five sons and two daughters: Chris Sorenson of St. Paul, Peter Sorenson of Cuyuna, and John, Bert, Carnet, Adeline and Ingeborg Zucca, who reside at home. Out-of-town relatives here to attend the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sorenson and children of St. Paul, who arrived here Saturday, being called as soon as her condition became serious.

INHERITANCE TAXES ENRICH MINNESOTA

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Bequests to residents and non-residents of Minnesota enriched the state coffers $1,116,196 through inheritance taxes during the year ending June 30, 1925.

Of this total, $986,187 came from estates of residents and $130,009 from non-residents.

SAYS PARACHUTE JUMPING IS SAFER THAN DODGING CARS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—George Smith of Fort Worth and other Texas points prefers parachute jumping to driving an automobile in traffic.

He told Judge Manley L. Fosseen he would never sit at the wheel of a car again with two drinks under his belt if the judge would let him go back to his stunt flying and parachute jumping profession. The court gave him four hours to start for Texas.

ST. PAUL POST OFFICE EMPLOYEES SALARY RAISE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Post office employees paid through the St. Paul post office will receive salary increases and allowances totalling nearly $1,500,000, according to figures just received by Postmaster Charles Moos. The reclassification act became effective April 15. With the exception of the postmaster himself all salaries have been raised.

STRIKING COAL MINERS BESIEGE MANY COLLIERIES

TROUBLE RECORDED IN VARIOUS PARTS OF WALES TODAY

PREMIER BALDWIN IN STRENUOUS EFFORT TO PREVENT LOCKOUT

(By United Press)
London, July 30.—Bands of striking coal miners out on local strike in Wales went forth in the early hours of the day and besieged numerous collieries in the Ammanford valley. Six hours after midnight eight groups of strikers, each 400 strong and armed with clubs, took law into their own hands and forced the "safety men" at the idle mines to return, according to word received here. Before the clubbed men, the police were powerless.

With such pretentious news at hand, Premier Baldwin began another day's strenuous effort to prevent the threatened July 31st coal lockout throughout the land.

FRANK GOOD TO HEAD ARMOUR PLANT AT FARGO

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Frank Good, assistant superintendent of the South St. Paul Armour plant, will be head of the plant which his company has purchased at Fargo. Good and A. Watson Armour, vice president of the company, are now in Fargo getting the old Equity plant ready for operation this fall.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES ARE RAISED IN MINNEAPOLIS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Fire insurance rates are to be increased on all property except residences, household furniture and some kinds of fireproof buildings. The increased rates will become effective as soon as property has been inspected.

FEDERAL AGENTS AVENGE ATTACK

WARRANTS ISSUE CHARGE ASSAULT ON GOVERNMENT AGENT

(By United Press)
Melrose, Minn., July 30.—Federal agents who came here to avenge the attack of bootleggers on Robert Bain, one of their number found the troublemakers had been "tipped off" and had disappeared.

Bain, former deputy sheriff of Mille Lacs county was attacked, beaten and evidence he had seized was destroyed. Agents who went to Stearns county to find his attackers conducted several raids yesterday, but found no one they sought. Neither could they find more evidence. Warrants were issued today for those who attacked Bain. They will be charged with assault on a government agent and with destroying government evidence.

STORY OF RICHES AND TITLES IS JUST THIN AIR

MRS. LARRY O'KEEFE HAS FAITH SHATTERED AND DREAMS LOST

HUSBAND DISAPPEARS AND WIFE IS NOW SEEKING WORK

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Faith shattered and dreams gone—Mrs. Larry O'Keefe is here today looking for a job. Five months ago her husband came out of an Austin packing plant with a story of riches and titles that were soon to be theirs.

Now "Sir Larry" has disappeared. Her home is broken up and Mrs. O'Keefe is seeking just plain work.

The magnificent home which Sir Larry contracted for has been turned into a furniture store. It was to be the counterpart of a castle in Ireland, together with which he said he had inherited a fortune and titles.

When Sir Larry's bubble burst, he disappeared. His oldest son is working in the fields in North Dakota. His youngest son is working in the packing plant where Sir Larry was a pigsticker in Austin and his wife wants a job.

A painstaking search for the "pig-sticking earl" has been fruitless.

CHINA SENDS FORCE TO SET FREE AMERICAN

1,000 CHINESE SOLDIERS GO TO PALMER RANCH IN MANCHURIA

EXPECT TO RELEASE DR. HARVEY HOWARD, KIDNAPED LAST WEEK

(By United Press)
Pekin, China, July 30.—The Chinese government has sent 1,000 men to the region of the Morgan Palmer ranch in Manchuria in an attempt to release Dr. Harvey Howard, American, from the bandits who kidnaped him last week.

Howard, associated with the Rockefeller foundation hospital in Peking, was kidnaped and secreted by bandits who raided the Palmer ranch and killed Palmer last week.

The sending of the troops followed American consular and diplomatic reports on the incident to the Chinese authorities.

That Howard still lives is indicated by reports reaching here that the bandits are now demanding ransom for his life. The American legation understood that they desire money and bullets, though there has been no direct communication and official efforts to learn the bandits' terms have been fruitless.

MUCH SEVERE ILLNESS REPORTED IN CUYUNA

Cuyuna, Minn., July 30.—An unusual number of severe cases of illness have been reported here during the last few days, among them are: Mrs. John Ruikka and Mrs. John Palm who are seriously ill at the family homes, and Mrs. Frank May who has been very ill but is recovering at present, at the Cuyuna Range hospital. All are mothers of large families.

VENDOME HOTEL AT MOORHEAD CLOSED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—The Vendome Hotel, Moorhead, was closed today by order of W. A. Wittbecker, state hotel inspector. Insanitary conditions were given as the reason. Wittbecker refused to renew a license for the hotel, alleging the owners had failed to comply with orders to clean up.

RIFFS TO RECEIVE PEACE CONDITIONS OF FRANCE, SPAIN

(By United Press)
Paris, July 30.—The government was semi-officially informed today that envoys of Abd El Krim, Rifian chieftain, were enroute to Tangiers to meet the Franco-Spanish semi-official delegates and receive the peace conditions of the two nations.

BANDIT BRAIN OF SPECTACULAR ROBBERY TAKEN

JAMES WOODS CONFESSES AFTER GUN BATTLE IN CHICAGO

TAKEN IN CUSTODY WHEN HE WENT TO HOSPITAL TO HAVE WOUNDS TREATED

(By United Press)
Chicago, July 30.—James Woods, leader of the five desperadoes that yesterday afternoon perpetrated Chicago's most spectacular robbery and gun battle, was taken into custody today and confessed.

Woods was arrested when he walked into a hospital and asked to be treated for bullet wounds. He was the second to be captured alive. Two were shot to death by policemen and one is still at large with loot estimated at $10,000.

Frank Rodkey, a clerk in the fashionable Drake hotel where the robbery was staged, was killed by a bullet wound in the stomach.

Two Texas cowboys, one of them a full blooded Cherokee Indian, wandering about with drunken bravado, three Chicago gunmen brandishing pistols and shotguns, women knocked down and fainting, wealthy hotel guests running for cover, policemen firing at the fleeing bandits, an automobile chase through seven miles of congested traffic—these were the incidents related to police today by witnesses of the holdup and series of gun battles.

The Drake hotel is known as one of Chicago's largest and most exclusive hostleries. It is situated on a commanding site overlooking Lake Michigan and at a prominent corner on Michigan Avenue.

Hundreds of guests, many of them millionaires, and their families from all parts of the world were about the lobby and in their rooms when the roar of pistols and shotguns broke loose.

State's Attorney Robert Crowe who has assumed a personal leadership of the prosecution of the captured bandits, said the holdup was without an equal in all Chicago's history. All of the bandits had been drinking heavily and one of them admitted his nerve was bolstered up while intoxicated and lead him to go against his own judgment.

COUNTY GRAND JURY WORKS QUICKLY

Chicago, July 30.—Working with express speed, the county grand jury met in extraordinary session today and returned a true bill charging Jack Wilson, alias Woods, and J. W. Holmes, both of Texas, and William Mullenbach of New York, with murder in connection with the spectacular raid on the fashionable Drake hotel late yesterday. They are charged with the murder of Frank B. Rodkey, clerk of the hotel.

Mullenbach is still at large while Wilson and Holmes have confessed to participation in the robbery.

Witnesses told the grand jury that Holmes fired the fatal shots and not Ted "Texas Kid" Court, full blooded Cherokee Indian.

Court was shot by a policeman as he ran from the hotel and a fifth bandit, Erick Nelson, was killed in an exchange of shots after a running battle through the streets of the fashionable north side district. Holmes was captured in the hotel kitchen and Wilson arrested this morning when he applied to a hospital for treatment. One of his fingers was shot off when he stumbled over the shotgun he used in the holdup. Considerable of the loot has been recovered. Hotel officials estimated the loss at between $7,000 and $10,000.

State's Attorney Robert Crowe promised a triple hanging as an object lesson to criminals whose bold depredations have given Chicago the name of the "crime capital of the world."

HENRY RINES BREAKS SILENCE AT LAST TODAY

TELLS CRITICS TO QUIT QUIBBLING OVER MINOR MATTERS

SHOULD MINIMIZE PETTY DISAGREEMENTS, HE SAID

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Henry Rines broke his silence today on the government reorganization controversy and told his critics to "quit quibbling over minor difficulties."

All departments and officials should keep in mind the "relative importance" of reorganization matters and minimize petty disagreements, he said.

Rines is state comptroller and chairman of the "big three" commission on administration and finance.

Employees of the railroad and warehouse commission whose salary increases have been disallowed "could be paid on the basis of their salary before the increase and leave the rest for future adjustments instead of withholding their salaries," Rines pointed out.

"The difficulties over disallowances of salary increases are not of such great importance to warrant all this publicity and discussion," Rines said.

N. W. TEXAS, EAST N. MEXICO JARRED BY QUAKE

BUILDINGS IN AMARILLO, TEXAS ARE SHAKEN, NO DAMAGE REPORTED

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE AWAKENED BY 6:12 A. M. SHOCK

(By United Press)
Amarillo, Texas, July 30.—An earthquake lasting thirty seconds was felt in northwestern Texas and eastern boundary of New Mexico at 6:12 A. M. today. Buildings in the downtown district of Amarillo were shaken, but no damage has as yet been reported.

Hundreds of people were awakened by the shock and the weather bureau and railway offices were swamped with hundreds of calls from surrounding sections asking for information of the shock. The tremor was also felt at Elkhart, Kansas.

Figured 40 Horses Needed to Extricate 40 Horsepower Car

(By United Press)
White Bear, Minn., July 30.—If a 40-horse power automobile goes into the ditch naturally it takes 40 horses to get it out.

So reasoned Thomas and John Mehigan, St. Paul near here last night. They went to the barn of Joseph Petter and borrowed a set of harness.

When Deputy Sheriff Ben Cluett arrived the harness had been attached to the car and the Mehigan brothers were looking for 40 horses. They paid fines of $25 each to Justice F. H. Peel today. They were charged with driving while drunk.

tal for treatment. One of his fingers was shot off when he stumbled over the shotgun he used in the holdup. Considerable of the loot has been recovered. Hotel officials estimated the loss at between $7,000 and $10,000.

State's Attorney Robert Crowe promised a triple hanging as an object lesson to criminals whose bold depredations have given Chicago the name of the "crime capital of the world."

ALCOHOL SEIZED TO KEEP CARS FROM FREEZING

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Alcohol seized by federal agents in a raid here will be turned over to the post office department to keep post office automobiles from freezing up this winter. A shipment seized yesterday amounting to 2,500 gallons was labelled, "automobile parts." The label suggested to federal agents the use of it in automobile radiators this winter.

CHARGED THEY PROMISED SCHALL WOULD "FIX IT"

CONVICTED BOOTLEGGER FILES SUIT AGAINST QUARTET FOR $850

ONE OF DEFENDANTS IS FORMER CAMPAIGN MANAGER OF SCHALL

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Charging that they promised Senator T. D. Schall would "fix it," F. A. Johnson convicted bootlegger, today filed suit against four men for $850 he said he paid them.

The suit was brought in Hennepin county district court against A. N. Jacobs, former campaign manager for Senator Schall, Frank Corneaby, Martin Knutson, former federal agent, and L. C. DeMars.

Johnson declared that while awaiting trial last October, a brother of Martin Knutson approached him and said he could obtain Tom Schall, then senatorial candidate, to represent him in court for $850. The money was paid, Johnson complained, but when the case was called in federal court Senator Schall did not appear. Johnson said he had been told that Schall could fix it and that he need not appear. He did not go into court and his bond was forfeited. Later he was brought in on a bench warrant and fined.

DIED OF STAB WOUNDS RECEIVED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Alfred Hoffman, 39, died last midnight from stab wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Philip Bifolki.

The latter was arrested on charges of assault with intent to kill today, but remanded to jail when it was learned his victim had died. Charges of manslaughter or murder are expected to follow.

(By United Press)
Washington, July 30.—The MacMillan arctic expedition ships, Bowdoin and Peary, are wedged in the Melville Bay ice pack, according to radio dispatches dated yesterday, which were received at the national geographic society headquarters here today.

The ice was light and the expedition expected to break out soon after the radio message was sent.

COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY IN INTERVIEW

SURVEYED NORTHWEST CROPS AND TALKED TO BUSINESS MEN

BELIEVES CROPS WILL RESTORE AGRICULTURE AND BUSINESS STABILITY

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—"The northwest is coming back fast," said Colonel Joseph McIntosh, comptroller of the currency for the United States, after looking over northwest crops and talking to business men here.

"Business is good—the northwest is coming back to stable condition," he said.

Colonel McIntosh said he believed the 1925 crops will restore agriculture and business stability in the northwest. The crops assure a heavy return to the farmer and that will assure financial normalcy, he said.

BRYAN'S ADDRESS IS CHARACTERIZED AS INEXPLICABLE TANGLE

St. Paul, July 30.—"A hopeless inexplicable tangle of expressions" is the characterization given by Dr. W. T. McElveen, pastor, Plymouth Congregational church, to William Jennings Bryan's last address.

"I do not like to speak in criticism of a man who is dead," Dr. McElveen said, "but to me Mr. Bryan's last effort seemed a strange mixture of bombast, misrepresentation and not a little imbecility."

"In his arguments he asks science to do things which it is in no way in the province of science to do and he blames science for events which were in no way caused by science."

YOUTH, VACATIONING IN STATE, LOCATED BY TOURIST BUREAU

Minneapolis, July 30.—The Minneapolis tourist information bureau has successfully located one of the thousands of tourists it registered as "camping somewhere in Minnesota."

The bureau registers the names and destinations of all visitors seeking information. As a result, Ben Ollerick of Butte, Neb., has had his camping trip cut short and is on his way home to attend his father's funeral. His father is H. A. Ollerick, president of the First National bank of Butte.

Ben Ollerick was on a camping trip with two other youths in the region of Lake Mille Lacs.

When Deputy Sheriff Ben Cluett arrived the harness had been attached to the car and the Mehigan brothers were looking for 40 horses. They paid fines of $25 each to Justice F. H. Peel today. They were charged with driving while drunk.

tal for treatment. One of his fingers was shot off when he stumbled over the shotgun he used in the holdup. Considerable of the loot has been recovered. Hotel officials estimated the loss at between $7,000 and $10,000.

State's Attorney Robert Crowe promised a triple hanging as an object lesson to criminals whose bold depredations have given Chicago the name of the "crime capital of the world."

ALCOHOL SEIZED TO KEEP CARS FROM FREEZING

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Alcohol seized by federal agents in a raid here will be turned over to the post office department to keep post office automobiles from freezing up this winter. A shipment seized yesterday amounting to 2,500 gallons was labelled, "automobile parts." The label suggested to federal agents the use of it in automobile radiators this winter.

CHARGED THEY PROMISED SCHALL WOULD "FIX IT"

CONVICTED BOOTLEGGER FILES
SUIT AGAINST QUARTET
FOR $850

ONE OF DEFENDANTS IS FORMER
CAMPAIGN MANAGER
OF SCHALL

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Charging that they promised Senator T. D. Schall would "fix it," F. A. Johnson, convicted bootlegger, today filed suit against four men for $850 he said he paid them.

The suit was brought in Hennepin county district court against A. N. Jacobs, former campaign manager for Senator Schall, Frank Cornsby, Martin Knutson, former federal agent, and L. C. DeMars.

Johnson declared that while awaiting trial last October, a brother of Martin Knutson approached him and said he could obtain Tom Schall, then senatorial candidate, to represent him in court for $850. The money was paid, Johnson complained, but when the case was called in federal court Senator Schall did not appear. Johnson said he had been told that Schall could fix it and that he need not appear. He did not go into court and his bond was forfeited. Later he was brought in on a bench warrant and fined.

DIED OF STAB WOUNDS RECEIVED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Alfred Hoffman, 39, died last midnight from stab wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Philip Bifolki.

The latter was arrested on charges of assault with intent to kill today, but remanded to jail when it was learned his victim had died. Charges of manslaughter or murder are expected to follow.

ANTHRAX FOUND IN N. D. CATTLE

(By United Press)
Valley City, N. D., July 30.—A few cases of anthrax has been discovered among cattle near here and cattle quarantined. Humans in proximity to the herds were ordered vaccinated by B. K. Bjornson, inspector for the livestock sanitation board.

(By United Press)
Washington, July 30.—The MacMillan arctic expedition ships, Bowdoin and Peary, are wedged in the Melville Bay ice pack, according to radio dispatches dated yesterday, which were received at the national geographic society headquarters here today.

The ice was light and the expedition expected to break out soon after the radio message was sent.

COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY IN INTERVIEW

SURVEYED NORTHWEST CROPS
AND TALKED TO BUSINESS
MEN

BELIEVES CROPS WILL RESTORE
AGRICULTURE AND BUSI-
NESS STABILITY

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—"The northwest is coming back fast," said Colonel Joseph McIntosh, comptroller of the currency for the United States, after looking over northwest crops and talking to business men here. "Business is good—the northwest is coming back to stable condition," he said.

Colonel McIntosh said he believed the 1925 crops will restore agriculture and business stability in the northwest. The crops assure a heavy return to the farmer and that will assure financial normalcy, he said.

BRYAN'S ADDRESS IS CHARACTERIZED AS INEXPLICABLE TANGLE

St. Paul, July 30.—"A hopeless inexplicable tangle of expressions" is the characterization given by Dr. W. T. McElveen, pastor, Plymouth Congregational church, to William Jennings Bryan's last address.

"I do not like to speak in criticism of a man who is dead," Dr. McElveen said, "but to me Mr. Bryan's last effort seemed a strange mixture of bombast, misrepresentation and not a little imbecility."

"In his arguments he asks science to do things which it is in no way in the province of science to do and he blames science for events which were in no way caused by science."

YOUTH, VACATIONING IN STATE, LOCATED BY TOURIST BUREAU

Minneapolis, July 30.—The Minneapolis tourist information bureau has successfully located one of the thousands of tourists it registered as "camping somewhere in Minnesota."

The bureau registers the names and destinations of all visitors seeking information. As a result, Ben Ollerick of Butte, Neb., has had his camping trip cut short and is on his way home to attend his father's funeral. His father is H. A. Ollerick, president of the First National bank of Butte.

Ben Ollerick was on a camping trip with two other youths in the region of Lake Mille Lacs.

STEALING A MARCH ON MRS. HEN

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Minnesota farmers are stealing a march on Mrs. Hen by forcing her to scramble from the roost earlier in the morning to consume those "three squares" a day. Scientific facts compiled recently prove that hens increase their egg production in August if fed a noon day meal.

Three quarts of dairy mash, mixed with three quarts of skim milk or butter milk for every 100 hens, at noon, forces the hen to arise earlier to wedge in another meal and also averts the annual egg production slump in August, according to N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist at the University farm.

Poultry men are catering to the newly discovered idea—the hens may

HUGE SKELETON PARTLY DUG UP BY EARTHQUAKE

(By United Press)

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 30.—A gigantic petrified skeleton, which scientists have not yet decided was a mastodon or prehistoric toothed whale, has been discovered on Green Mountain, highest point on historic San Miguel Island, 30 miles from Santa Barbara's shoreline.

San Miguel Island was badly rocked during the recent earthquake, and many of its tall cliffs tumbled into the sea.

The skeleton's tusks measure 15 feet in length, and together with the mammal's skull were found protruding above ground at the summit of the mountain. The balance of the bones were buried in the earth's surface, but the entire skeleton was virtually intact.

May Change Geologic Theory

If the find proves to be a mastodon, it will disrupt the entire sequence of geology as worked out by scientists on the Pacific coast, according to D. B. Rogers, Smithsonian excavator. If it is a toothed whale, its discovery will be an equally valuable contribution to science and history.

"If it is a whale," Rogers said, "it died about the time the bottom of the sea arose, as it has been exposed to the air during the process of petrification, and is therefore imperfect and brittle. If it had petrified beneath the water, I believe it would have been as solid and hard as other specimens we have in the museum."

Capt. Bob Ord, veteran Santa Barbara navigator, made the discovery, and reported his find to scientific investigators. Except for the tusk of a sabretoothed tiger found there 10 years ago, no mammal had ever been found on the quake-heaved island before.

RULERS OF GOTHAM PEDDLERS CROWNED

New York, July 30.—Peddlers of the East side who vend from pushcarts everything from pickles to fur coats evidently have their periods of affluence, for 250 of them attended a $5-a-plate testimonial dinner last night at which the king and queen of the peddlers were crowned.

The queen, Mrs. Molly Barasch, wore a real diamond-studded diadem and a white dress embellished with lace. The menu was gold-embossed and a 48-page souvenir program was distributed.

Morris Loopseko, the king, and Mrs. Barasch were presented with four-foot-square gilt-framed testimonials attesting to their aid in promotion of the welfare of peddlers of the city. Messages from Mayor Hylan and other city officials were read.

At a magistrate's inquiry recently the king had figured in testimony that peddlers have had to pay graft for permits.—Duluth Herald.

PARKING STRICTLY AMERICAN WORRY

NO OTHER NATION HAS ENOUGH
AUTOS TO RAISE
PROBLEM

Washington, July 30.—Auto parking worries do not concern any of the world's habitants except those in the United States. The others walk.

With one-sixteenth of the world's population, the United States has 80 per cent of the world's supply of autos. The total registration of automobiles in the United States is rapidly approaching the 18,000,000 mark. Only one other nation has passed the 1,000,000 mark. Great Britain having attained a registration of 1,250,000.

These figures, revealed by a survey conducted by the department of commerce, show that many American cities have more automobiles than there are in the whole of Asia or Africa or South America. States like New York and California have more autos than these three continents combined, with Australia and New Zealand thrown in for good measure.

Consumption of gasoline and use of automobiles being closely interrelated, the department of commerce also found that nearly 80 per cent of the world's use of gasoline is confined to the United States. Gasoline consumption in the United States has grown 600 per cent in the past 10 years and has jumped from 1,250,000 gallons in 1914 to over 7,500,000,000 last year.

Production of gasoline more than kept pace with this consumption until 1925. Last year the United States exported more gasoline than was consumed in this country only a decade ago. The production figures for 1914 and 1924 were 1,500,000,000 gallons and 9,000,000,000 gallons respectively.

Use of both automobiles and of gasoline is on the increase throughout the world, the department says. But the rate of increase is nowhere so rapid as within the United States. Compared with the 18,000,000 autos in the United States, the remainder of North America has 660,000. In all of Europe there are nearly 3,000,000, the greater portion of which are in Great Britain and France. In South America there are only 220,000 autos, and in Africa only 105,000. Asia claims a total registration of 250,000 while Australia and New Zealand have 325,000.

SHORTHORNS AS DUAL PURPOSE COWS

(By United Press)

Waseca, Minn., July 30.—Cows yielding a satisfactory quantity and grade of milk also produce quality calves for beef, according to a survey completed by R. E. Hodgson, superintendent of the branch experiment station here.

A herd of shorthorns maintained here since 1913 has established an average production record, since 1919, 6,553 pounds of milk and 239 pounds of butterfat annually. These results show a marked increase over the average Minnesota cow which produces approximately 4,000 pounds of milk and 167 pounds of butterfat annually.

Steers from the herd averaging 550 pounds at 13 months, in a 180 day feeding test gave average daily gains of 2.42 pounds; with feeding requirements for each 100 pounds of gain as follows: 292.4 pounds ground corn, 119.4 pounds ground oats, 28.9 pounds linseed meal, 800 pounds silage, and 194.8 pounds of alfalfa hay.

"These tests distinctly prove," Hodgson said, "that the same herd may produce results both in the milk and beef field."

YOUNG TOURISTS SEEING EUROPE WITHOUT MONEY

(By United Press)

London, July 30.—"Pike's Peak or Bust" as a slogan of determination is giving away before a newer version—"Europe—and Busted."

England and the Continent just now are thronged with American student-tourists who are "doing" Europe on the slenderest purses of any great contingent of travelers that has ever come over from the United States.

Conversion of the former steerage quarters of the great passenger liners into "Tourist Thirds" with round trip fares of $150.00 or thereabouts, and 31 day tours at only $300.00 has brought into this country and Europe a good many thousand young hopefuls—hopeful, that is, that they will have enough funds to get back home on.

Capacity Shipments

The Cunard liner Aquitania is recently in with 800 students traveling third class; the Leviathan, of the U. S. lines recently landed an equal number, and will shortly be along with more. The Royal Mail and the French lines, also have rehabilitated their old steerage quarters in the New Third Class as it is called, and report close to capacity shipments on several of their boats.

It's difficult now to realize there ever was such a thing as a hatpin.—Toledo Blade.

WHO KNOWS CHIPPEWA?

ON July 24, George Ericson of Sponner, this state, visited THE DISPATCH office and vouchsafed the information that Congressman Harold Knutson was to be formally adopted by the Chippewas at Ballclub. George said Harold was to be named "Que-We-Saince," which George said meant "Hole-in-the-Day."

Now Ericson, having lived in the Northwest Angle for many years, is an authority on that angle and many other angles and we presumed his knowledge of Chippewa is full and complete.

Now comes the Cass Lake Times, with letter postmarked July 29, informing us that "Que-We-Saince" means "Little Boy," and explains that Congressman Knutson was wearing his golf suit when introduced to the tribe, and one of the warriors exclaimed in Chippewa, "Our friend is but a little boy."

Our nearest Chippewa authority is Ed Rogers and we shall have Ed decide. The adoption ceremonies on August 8th will be formal and resplendent and will bring about a large representation of Cass Lake, Leech Lake, Mississippi and Winnibigoshish bands.

Congressman Knutson, says the Cass Lake Times, has long been in favor with the Indians and last election hundreds of Indians came to the polls and voted for Knutson. They knew that he had heeded their calls for payment and regarded him as the only man on the ticket that had done anything to deserve their vote.

The election of Knutson as a member of the Chippewa nation gives him a voice and vote in the council, but carries no payments or other rights of Indians.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN TOURIST CAMPS

THE commercialization of tourist camps is seen in the recent filing of incorporation papers in this state of "The National Auto Tourist Camps, Inc.," with headquarters in Minneapolis and a capital stock of $25,000. The purpose of the corporation and officers, George W. Beach, Robert E. Simms and Agnes C. Clement, is to acquire by purchase or rental tourist camps in Minnesota and other states, their improvement, and the sale of memberships in the camps.

New York City last year inaugurated a privately owned tourist camp with many conveniences. In our Brainerd Lake region are many privately owned tourist camps offering many conveniences, some making a small charge, others charging nothing, providing supplies, etc., are purchased at the resort.

The idea is new, however, of forming a state-wide and national organization, with a chain of tourist camps and membership in the corporation entitling one to the conveniences of the chain of camps so owned, and the plan indicates the growth of the tourist business and the evident desire to cater to every want of the tourist.

The day of free tourist camps, municipally owned, is passing; and it is the general rule of every city tourist camp to make a small charge for services rendered.

CHURCHES UNITING IN CANADA

A RECENT religious movement in Canada, tending to consolidation of churches, is something that offers theologians of the United States a fruitful topic.

With the consummation of an organic union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational denominations of Canada in Toronto, the Dominion will be definitely more advanced religiously, than the United States. The constituent congregations of the "United Church" will adhere to the denominational rituals they have always practiced, says the Waterbury Republican, but candidates for ordination and confirmation will not be required to subscribe to any formal creed.

A simple affirmation of faith in the Christian gospels will be accepted instead. The consolidation promises to be complete throughout the dominion except among the Presbyterians. Approximately 700 of their congregations have declined to approve it. Gradually a uniform system of church government is to be introduced for all the constituent congregations.

The participants in this religious merger may be called fundamentalists because they have acknowledged that the fundamental purpose of all of them is to promote the authentic spirit of Christianity the world over.

N. P. EXCURSIONS TO BRAINERD

WITH the growth of the St. Paul excursions to Chicago, $7 for the round trip, has come another development, heralded today. These excursion trips have paid so well that Chicago and Milwaukee people are to be favored with a round trip rate to St. Paul.

As we mentioned a few days ago, what is to prevent the Northern Pacific railway company, which last week end gave St. Paul people a round trip rate to Taylors Falls, what is to prevent the N. P. from running an excursion from St. Paul to Brainerd.

These week-end excursionists ask for no expensive equipment, no Pullmans, no diners. All they ask is day coaches. Such excursions would not overtax the accommodations of Brainerd. We have the hotels, rooming houses, summer resorts, etc., taxis, buses, automobiles to take care of a crowd. These week-enders want to see things, they want to cover ground, they want to explore our lakes, and do it in a day of daylight. They will benefit our hotels, our restaurants, our resort cafes, our Sunday special dinners. Let's get behind this movement and see if Brainerd can't get as much as Taylors Falls is getting. Let's see that Northern Minnesota gets as much attention as Southern Minnesota.

CO-EDUCATION is all right, but this co-ed proposition can be carried too far. We know a Brainerd man whose eyes get tired at times and who is using his wife's glasses in the interims. The oculist who fitted the wife's glasses says he never heard of glasses doing dual service in a family.

MANY sheiks are reported taking up art studies since the vogue started of painting pictures on girls' knees.

THE automobile is making great inroads on the front porch swing and hammock.

For Memory's Sake

By DUFORD JENNE

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

"DAD" STEINER paused on the landing. He listened. From the room at his right came the sound of sobbing.

We went on up the creaking stairs of the old tenement, through the reeking air of ancient cooking, thinking of how many times that room he had passed had held some one who had found the city ways too troubled to be happy. He knew by the sound that this time it was a girl who had drifted down in that dismal eddy of the great city.

The next day, the old man saw her. He was on the pension list of his old lumber firm, had carefully banked enough money to give him a decent burial; so the sunny days he spent in the park. That park faced the sea, and on his special bench it was his habit to rest, watching through the hours the traffic from the ocean up the great river.

The girl came and sat down on the same bench. She did not seem to notice him. He knew that she was near the end.

When she did look at him, he started. The memory of a girl he had loved long ago. Steiner moved restlessly, trying to take his thoughts from her.

That evening he sought out Mrs. Malone, who lived in the basement, and who was his one and only friend in the tumbling old tenement. He explained what he wanted.

She took her pipe from her sagging mouth and said tenderly: "Ye of fool, ye'd been up the city 'stead of here in clover, if it wad't for the tender heart o' ye. But I'll do fer ye."

She reported on the night of that day. "Sure the colleen was dyin' fer a body to talk to. She's nigh the end. Ye see she was engaged to a salesman. They had everything fixed. He wint South fer his firm. An' she never heard of him. His firm neither. They thought he skipped with the money—and left him in the lurch—an' her, too. Why ye so glum, man? She's nigh the end."

The old man gave his rare smile. From the basement Steiner went to Bause, the owner of the tenement, who lived in his ramshackle building. Steiner explained what he wanted.

"Sure," Bause said. "She can stay as long as she wants if you pay the bill. No, I won't say anything. None of my business as long as I get the coin."

The next day Steiner limped down to the great docks where until he had been pensioned he had been night-watchman for many years. Doors were opened for him until he faced the owner of the shipping company who controlled them. Steiner again explained what he wanted.

The gray-headed man at the desk smiled. "Still helping them out, Steiner? Well, you were the best watchman we ever had, and we owe you a good turn. I'll see what I can do."

He turned to the telephone, and Steiner saw him as he talked show sudden interest. When he turned he said: "They got track of the young fellow last week. He was in a hotel fire in some little town down South; burned everything he had up, and almost finished him. He's out of his mind now; he's in some state asylum, but they're looking after him; and they think if they could find his sweetheart she might be able to help him come around. I've got all of this from the manager of his old firm, so it must be right."

Steiner almost forgot his limp as he hurried back to the tenement. On his way he stopped at the Sailors' Five-Cent Savings bank and drew out the precious money that was to make sure he would have an honorable place to rest after his days were over. "I can squeeze a bit of my pension," he said hopefully.

He listened at the landing before the little room. He was sure he heard a little movement. He knocked. No reply. He knocked again. No reply. He turned the broken knob. A slow step drew near. The door opened a bit. The wide, staring eyes of the girl looked at him.

"I have some good news for you. Can I see you?" he asked.

Once in the room, he sat down at the table, while she stood. Quietly he told her what he had discovered. She stood dumb; and at his last words she fainted.

He stumbled down to the basement and brought Mrs. Malone puffing up.

When at last peace filled the dingy room, Steiner rose. The girl looked up at him from the bed, her eyes wide no longer with despair and horror. "How can I thank you? Oh, how can I? I'll go tomorrow, and I'll send the money back just as soon."

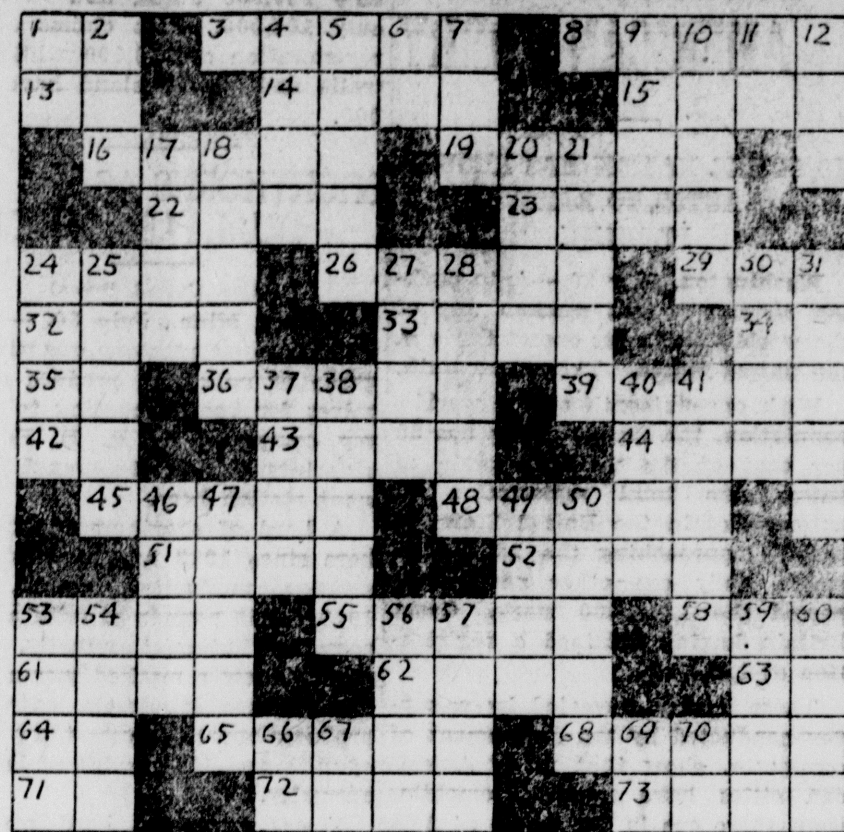

"Never mind the money," he said. "Whenever things are all right, you can send it. I won't need it for a long time, I hope."

Outside the door he listened to the brogue of Mrs. Malone and the happy chatter of the girl sounding faintly from within. Then he looked at the small bottle in his hand, a snuffly little bottle which he had wrenched from the girl's clenched hand when he knelt above her after she had fainted.

"Poison," Steiner muttered. "I was just in time."

And he went upstairs to his room to sit by the window through which came the fresh winds of the sea, and dream of a girl with brown eyes and a sweet curve to her chin, a girl he had loved and lost in another land in the long ago.

Boy Had Good Idea of Penalty of Lying

"You know where people go who tell lies?" said a court official at Newcastle, England, to a small girl in the witness box recently. "Yes, but I don't believe it," was the reply.

This incident has suggested to an English commentator an instance where the converse of the Newcastle episode occurred in the court of Judge Maule a few years ago: A small boy was placed in the witness box and was asked the same question, "Do you know where people go who tell lies?" on which Maule commented: "If he knows that, it's a good deal more than I do." However, the boy did know, for he was taken through a catalogue of offenses from telling lies to stealing apples, and replied "Hell-fire" to all of them. Counsel suggested that he was not competent. The judge demurred. "He thinks that for every willful fault he will go to hell-fire; and he is very likely, while he believes that doctrine, to be most strict in his observance of the truth. If you and I believed that such would be the penalty for every offense we committed, we should be better men than we are. Swear him."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Traditions Tell of Many Sunken Cities

Traditions of sunken cities are always interesting. Both Killamey and Lough Neagh are reputed to have once been the sites of famous Irish cities, drowned as a punishment for the wickedness of their inhabitants. Holland boasts of several ruined towns sunk at the bottom of the Zuyder zee, while off the coast of Holsstein lies buried the legendary city of Vineta, whence (so fishermen say) the tolling of the bells in the church spires comes up faintly through the waters on quiet days. Most famous of all is Ys, said to have stood where now is the Bay of Douarnenez, a little west of Quimper, in Brittany. Ys was a magnificent city, built below the level of the sea, and it owed its destruction to a certain wicked princess named Dahut, who, to gratify an idle whim, opened the sluice-gates and herself perished in the ruin which she brought upon the city.

Bear as Photographer!

A student of forestry was camping with two friends in the wildest part of Allegheny park. Taking his camera, he rambled off alone to look for picturesque subjects.

He had placed his camera on a fallen tree, and had gone some little distance to get a viewpoint, when he saw a black bear browsing amongst some berry bushes. He was scared, and, forgetting his camera, sped back to his camp and companions. With them he returned to the spot, but in the meantime, the bear had disappeared.

The camera was still on the log, but a plate had been exposed. When it was developed it showed the frightened young man in rapid flight down the trail. The bear, investigating the camera, had touched the trigger with its nose.

Banking for the People

Where Ambitious People Meet

WHEN a bank throws open its doors in the morning it says, in effect, to the public, "We are here to help people make profits."

Ambitious people are quick to see and to take advantage of the opportunities awaiting them at the bank. The bank lobby thus becomes a common meeting place for people on the way to success.

How does a bank help people make profits? First, depositors receive a profit in the form of interest, on their time deposits.

Then, practically every one who borrows at the bank does it to help "turn over" his own capital—to make a profit on business transactions, or on the farm.

Even the person who merely deposits his money in a checking account does so with profit.

He prevents losses which might occur should he carry money with him. He saves time, which is money, when he sends a check instead of going in person.

He saves paying bills more than once because his canceled check becomes a receipt, and the check stub is also a written record.

As a depositor, he establishes an acquaintance at the bank. This enables him to command the friendly interests of officers when profit-making plans are being tested.

His banker, in this confidential position, is often able to point the way to less risk and more profit.

His banker stands ready to advise him in regard to proposed investments, with safety and profit in view.

Almost all who come to the bank are on errands intimately connected with their dominant desires.

Human ambitions focus more in banks than in any other business institutions.

When you meet a successful person and inquire along what road he came, you will find, almost invariably, his footsteps were often turned in the direction of his bank.

And that his judgment was tested with that of his banker.

WHO KNOWS CHIPPEWA?

ON July 24, George Ericson of Spopper, this state, visited THE DISPATCH office and vouchsafed the information that Congressman Harold Knutson was to be formally adopted by the Chippewas at Ballclub. George said Harold was to be named "Que-We-Saince," which George said meant "Hole-in-the-Day."

Now Ericson, having lived in the Northwest Angle for many years, is an authority on that angle and many other angles and we presumed his knowledge of Chippewa is full and complete.

Now comes the Cass Lake Times, with letter postmarked July 29, informing us that "Que-We-Saince" means "Little Boy," and explains that Congressman Knutson was wearing his golf suit when introduced to the tribe, and one of the warriors exclaimed in Chippewa, "Our friend is but a little boy."

Our nearest Chippewa authority is Ed Rogers and we shall have Ed decide. The adoption ceremonies on August 8th will be formal and resplendent and will bring about a large representation of Cass Lake, Leech Lake, Mississippi and Winnibigoshish bands.

Congressman Knutson, says the Cass Lake Times, has long been in favor with the Indians and last election hundreds of Indians came to the polls and voted for Knutson. They knew that he had heeded their calls for payment and regarded him as the only man on the ticket that had done anything to deserve their vote.

The election of Knutson as a member of the Chippewa nation gives him a voice and vote in the council, but carries no payments or other rights of Indians.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN TOURIST CAMPS

THE commercialization of tourist camps is seen in the recent filing of incorporation papers in this state of "The National Auto Tourist Camps, Inc.," with headquarters in Minneapolis and a capital stock of $25,000. The purpose of the corporation and officers, George W. Beach, Robert E. Simms and Agnes C. Clement, is to acquire by purchase or rental tourist camps in Minnesota and other states, their improvement, and the sale of memberships in the camps.

New York City last year inaugurated a privately owned tourist camp with many conveniences. In our Brainerd Lake region are many privately owned tourist camps offering many conveniences, some making a small charge, others charging nothing, providing supplies, etc., are purchased at the resort.

The idea is new, however, of forming a state-wide and national organization, with a chain of tourist camps and membership in the corporation entitling one to the conveniences of the chain of camps so owned, and the plan indicates the growth of the tourist business and the evident desire to cater to every want of the tourist.

The day of free tourist camps, municipally owned, is passing and it is the general rule of every city tourist camp to make a small charge for services rendered.

CHURCHES UNITING IN CANADA

A RECENT religious movement in Canada, tending to consolidation of churches, is something that offers theologians of the United States a fruitful topic.

With the consummation of an organic union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational denominations of Canada in Toronto, the Dominion will be definitely more advanced religiously, than the United States. The constituent congregations of the "United Church" will adhere to the denominational rituals they have always practiced, says the Waterbury Republican, but candidates for ordination and confirmation will not be required to subscribe to any formal creed.

A simple affirmation of faith in the Christian gospels will be accepted instead. The consolidation promises to be complete throughout the dominion except among the Presbyterians. Approximately 700 of their congregations have declined to approve it. Gradually a uniform system of church government is to be introduced for all the constituent congregations.

The participants in this religious merger may be called fundamentalists because they have acknowledged that the fundamental purpose of all of them is to promote the authentic spirit of Christianity the world over.

ADELE ALLSTON had never liked the idea of running true to form. She had no desire to be cranky.

As she drew into maidenhood she realized that she was rather cocky about her freedom from the emotions by which women were supposed to be swayed. She laughed at tales of women who grieved for a lifetime over love. And she could not understand many of the other things that writers, most of them men, wrote about women and their desires.

"I don't believe it," she said one day when a group of pseudo-Freudians had been considering mankind from its lowest elements, and laughing, had left the luncheon party.

Unusually boastful, inwardly, of her exemption from this silliness, she walked briskly down Beacon street, reveling in the violet shadows that the late afternoon sun struck from the old brick house fronts and pavement.

A pang of homesickness twisted her heart and suddenly she was not in Boston but in New Orleans, in her own garden, bending over a miniature tree and Robert Harlington was with her.

"I like the leaves," he was saying, "they're such a pretty green. And the flowers," he plucked a spray, "they're so fragrant. Mignonette, isn't it?—Rezzider—"

"Say ray-zee-dah," she rose as she corrected him, laughing, and, laughing, they looked into each other's eyes.

"Ray-zee-dah," he mimicked her, brushing her lips and then his own with the little spray of blossom he put in his pocketbook.

In that moment the first love of her first young womanhood had come full blown, into being—a love that had been as exquisite as the leaf and flower of the tree mignonette and as fragile.

How long ago that had been! "What a sentimental old maid I am," Adele thought. "I'm running true to form this time. It must be the springtime."

The conversation around the luncheon table came back to her. How outrageous those women had been. Surely few women could be addicted to those emotions about which they talked so boldly, glibly quoting Havellock Ellis and his ilk—especially that longing for children—that thing about dreams and wish fulfillment, and—

She came almost to a standstill, stunned by the impact of memory, then again her feet sounded their independent little tap-tap-tap on the walk. But her thoughts had changed. She had had dream children, two of them. There were Robert's children. They had never been babies, nor had they ever grown up.

The children had faded from her consciousness as the years brought forgetfulness of Robert, whom she had never seen since the ending of that brief sweet season of her young love. At Temple place, waiting again for official sign that all was safe, she glanced diagonally across the street. Next moment she had crossed, dodging an automobile and was standing face close to the plate glass window behind which were coats and suits and hats and stockings to match—all in reseda green.

"How lovely!" she breathed. "How springlike. Oh, how lovely!" Lovely all in their own right, unhallowed by any memory. At least, thinking it all over afterward, she had had no conscious memories then. All she felt conscious of was that here was just what she wanted, that it was too late to shop now—the store would be closing in a moment—but she would come in early tomorrow for one of those coats.

She turned from the window and bumped, forehead and breast, against the solid bulk of a man.

"I'm so sorry," she murmured, and then for some reason turned. The man had stepped just beyond the window filled with reseda green and Adele's heart missed a beat as he made a motion to turn. He did not swing all the way around, however; only his profile cut sharply across her vision and it was Robert Harlington. He was staring across the street as though searching for some one in the crowd, and, with conflicting emotions, Adele noted that over his face, so still as he stared, there was the shadow of ineffable sorrow.

"Oh! Here you are!" An athletic-looking girl, scarf ends flying, came swinging across the street. "Sorry you've had to wait." She slipped her arm in a rough tweed sleeve into Robert's arm. "Been waiting long, Dad?"

How dare she? That great creature, almost as tall as he and in that hideous yellowish coat? He would have had to stoop way over to speak to his children and they would have been dressed in green. Little green coats of satiny broadcloth with collars of velvet, just a shade darker, buttoned close about their throats.

"I couldn't find a thing," the girl was saying petulantly, that I can wear. "Everybody's crazy over that color—"

she pushed Robert round toward the window, "rezzider green they call it."

"Say ray-zee-dah," the man spoke as though in a trance but the girl paid no attention. "Isn't it hideous?" was what she said.

"Oh, I don't know," said Robert Harlington as he turned his back on the window and on Adele Allston.

This Is Bloody Ground

The Maumee valley, of which the city of Toledo now is the distinguishing feature, is known in history as the Bloody Ground. It is said that it bears the marks of more battles and has caused the expenditure of more treasure than other territory of similar extent in the United States. The Indians held onto it longer than any other portion of Ohio. For it was their most prized hunting ground.—Eagle Magazine.

A UNIVERSAL PICTURE WITH JACK HOXIE

Noted Western Star Who Offered to Teach Wales to Ride, Has Accident

Jack Hoxie's latest starring vehicle, "The Western Wallop," to be shown in the Lyceum theater tonight and Friday, is a story full of tensely dramatic situations that make vivid the tragedy in the life of a man who is trying to win his way after having been paroled from a penitentiary.

This parole is accorded him as a reward for his efforts in preventing a wholesale escape from the convict camp, and after gaining his conditional freedom he goes back to the cattle country where he had spent most of his life, and where his prison record was unknown. On the journey he gains the gratitude of a young woman by recovering from a bandit the money she was taking to her father's ranch. He is given a job on the ranch.

Then came a number of situations that, because he cannot break his parole, appear to establish the man as a coward and gain for him the contempt of the woman he has learned to love.

Does Marriage Ruin Romance?

Why does the marriage ceremony invariably dim the glow of romance which has culminated in a trip to the altar?

And why is it that so many men are such devoted lovers when they are estly faced by few—very few—form the theme of one of the most fascinatingly entertaining motion pictures which has come to this city in a long time. It is "Husbands and Lovers," a First National picture, produced by Louis B. Mayer and directed by John M. Stahl, which will be shown at the New Park on Friday and Saturday.

Doris Kenyon Is Now First National Star

Baptism by a garden hose was Doris Kenyon's initiation to her job as First National's newest star.

Before the drenched lady had time to dry off after the first inundation, the prop boy, holding the hose, was called again to spray her. This went on time and time again for several days.

Let this might dissuade some embryonic star from seeking a movie career, it should be stated that Miss Kenyon's continuous soaking was not a customary form of screen initiation, but was called for in the script of "If I Marry Again," the current First National feature at the New Park tonight.

Jay Walkers—And Drivers

The new police plan for dealing with jay-walkers may have profitable results, and the department is to be commended for any campaign calculated to reduce the species, but there is something to be said for the pedestrian who is not a jay.

In practice, all the "rights" of the pedestrian are not safe rights at all. When the north and south traffic is stopped he has no police protection against the jay-driver, or, worse still, the indifferent driver who whirls around the corner without notice. When the traffic is stopped and he has the "right" to cross the street in front of the high-power cars drawn up to the deadline, he knows that the moment the lights turn, or the whistle sounds, these high-power cars will rush forward and upon him with a bound while he is in the middle of the street where he has a "right" to be.

He is not a jay-walker because he is in the street at that moment. When he is in the middle of the street, where he has a right to be, when the whistle sounds, and the jay-drivers in utter indifference to that "right" rush forward with a bound, the pedestrian is lucky if he makes the curb in safety.

In educating the jay-walkers as to his duties, it might not be amiss to say something to the jay-driver about this.—New York Evening World.

ED REDDY NEW MATCHMAKER FOR ST. PAUL BOXING

BIG OUTDOOR SHOW PLANNED—NEW OWNER URGES FOR ACTION

FIRST BOXING PROGRAM SOON ANNOUNCED BY CAPT FAWCETT

St. Paul, July 30.—Edward J. (Eddy) Reddy is the new matchmaker for the St. Paul half of the Twin Cities Athletic association, into which Capt. Billy Fawcett has combined the two franchises.

Capt. Fawcett announced the completion of his new organization today. At the same time he said that plans were progressing so rapidly that the personnel and date of his first boxing program would be ready for publication within a few days.

It is Fawcett's plan to make the first card a combined St. Paul and Minneapolis affair with which the new regime is boxing here will be introduced on a grand scale. It is Fawcett's notion that boxing interest must be awakened by something rather explosive in the first program, and he is calling in both Jack Reddy and Eddie Reddy to unite in the opening venture.

The business of making boxing matches is not a new one to Eddie Reddy. He was the first matchmaker St. Paul had under legalized boxing when Louis F. Dow held the first franchise. Reddy had qualified for the post at that time by five years in New York, where he introduced both Mike and Tom Gibbons and handled the affairs for that period.

Reddy's first important match was between Tommy Gibbons and Billy Miske, the first meeting between these two after they had sprung into national prominence. In the same season he had Billy Whelan against Eddie Wallace, then two of the greatest featherweights in the country. Mike O'Dowd fought Harry Gilmore in another important fight of the year and Mike Gibbons opposed Jimmy Perry.

Since resigning from the past, Reddy's interest in boxing has been informal but keen. He has had but little official connection with the game except as manager for a time of Dago Joe Gans.—St. Paul Daily News.

Unified Faculties
We talk of faculties as if they were distinct, things separable; as if a man had intellect, imagination and fancy as he has hands, feet and arms. This is a capital error. We hear of a man's intellectual and moral natures as if these were divisible and existed apart. This is a necessity of language: at bottom these divisions are but names. Man's soul, his spiritual nature, is essentially one and indivisible.—Carlyle.

Producing Liquid Air
Liquid air is a transparent, limpid and intensely cold liquid, slightly blue in color, and of about the same density as water. It is prepared by subjecting air to great pressure and then cooling it by its own expansion to a temperature below the boiling point of its constituents (nitrogen, 194 degrees centigrade; oxygen, 183 degrees centigrade). Its chief use is as a refrigerant.

GERTRUDE EDERLE MAY TURN TRICK

NO WOMAN HAS EVER ACCOMPLISHED THE ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIM

New York, July 30.—Gertrude Ederle, young American swimmer, will have the "bon voyage" of a whole nation behind her when she attempts to swim across the English channel next week.

Swimming sharps here all hope that the girl becomes the first woman to perform the hardest feat in athletics, but they are dubious about her chances.

"If any woman can do it, she can," Joe Ruddy, swimming star of the New York Athletic club and the world's greatest water polo player, says.

"It isn't merely a matter of swimming that distance," he said. "It is a question of fighting water, tide and currents that pull on you just as much as an opponent on the leg of a water polo player. She is a strong swimmer and has plenty of courage."

Miss Ederle proved, when she swam in record time from the Battery in New York to Sandy Hook, that she was capable of a distance longer than the 21 miles "bird line" from Cape Cris-Nez to Dover, but conditions otherwise cannot be compared.

No swimmer ever will be able to cross the channel on a direct line. To fight changing tides and currents in the channel a swimmer must constantly change the course and describe a "w" shaped route.

Miss Ederle has in her favor a form of training that has proved to be superior to the methods followed by foreign athletes and she has been working for more than a year with the channel fight in mind.

To Renovate Brush
Turpentine will clean paint brushes if they have not become too hardened. After that stage they can be made soft and clean by boiling in water in which a little lye has been added. Washing powder or soap can be used in place of the lye but the process will take longer. Do not let brush handles touch the lye solution.

42—Niceties of the Swing.

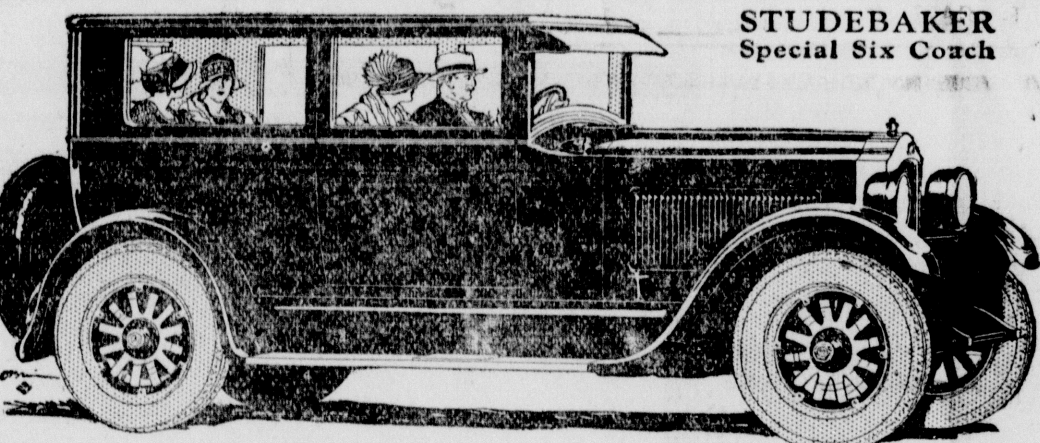

It takes years of golf to learn the little niceties of the swing that lead to the lower scores paying the way to the knowledge and execution of the experts. Each expert has pet methods of his own, but a few hints can be acted on profitably by any player.

Perhaps the first general rule is to get a comfortable position before making a shot. This is not always possible when getting a ball out of trouble, but it is possible to get fairly comfortable from almost any stance. In teeing the ball, for instance, one finds an inequality of the ground by which one foot is not level or where the feet are on slightly different levels. Perhaps there is a bumpy place just back of where you have made the tee. Perhaps, with no apparent reason, you just do not feel comfortable. That should be the instant cue calling for a different tee. You have often seen an expert get all ready to shoot and then stop and change his tee to another spot. It may not be apparent why he has made the change, but you can rest assured he would not have made a perfect shot from the first tee and will be almost as certain of making a good one from his new tee.

One of the commonest errors is to grip the club before it is certain it is soled properly. Take the club in the right hand and place it correctly back of the ball. Then grasp it with the left hand, being sure you keep the club in exactly the same lie. Then you know the lie and grip are correct and you can dismiss both from your mind. The next thing is to feel your weight on your heels. If in the slightest doubt, tilt up the toes until you know all the weight is on the heels. The right heel must be flat on the ground until the forward swing is well on its way. It is as well if it does not come up at all until the ball is hit. It can come straight up without harm, but there must be no slightest turning of the foot to the inside until the ball is on its way. And it is practically certain that you will find far greater ease in making the stroke if the left toe is pointed straight toward the line of flight and not splay-footed at all. Try it and you probably will adopt the method.

STUDEBAKER Special Six Coach

Why the One-Profit* Coach Excels

—it is engineered and built complete by one organization—Studebaker. It is a perfectly co-ordinated, harmonious unit. This means better performance, greater comfort and increased mileage at an accepted coach price

AN AUTOMOBILE, like any other highly specialized machine, runs more smoothly—lasts longer—gives greater satisfaction—when its thousands of elements are carefully co-ordinated into one harmonious unit.

Obviously, a better car can be produced when all vital parts are designed, engineered and manufactured by one organization.

The Studebaker car is built on this "one-profit" principle. Not only all the engines, but also all the bodies, and all the axles, gear sets, differentials, springs, clutches, steering gears, gray iron castings and drop forgings are manufactured in Studebaker plants. This is not true of any other automobile in the fine car field.

The Studebaker, therefore, being built as a unit—functions as a unit—with all of the advantages of unit over assembled construction.

"Coach" in name—Coupe in quality

The Studebaker Special Six Coach is an outstanding example of the finer quality made possible by this "one-profit" principle of motor car manufacture.

This automobile is really a fine 5-passenger coupe, but is called a "coach" because it carries the lowest price at which an enclosed car has ever been sold on the famous Studebaker Special Six chassis.

In this Coach fine grades of upholstery are used. You'll find the same quality of workmanship and materials in all hidden places that you see out in the open.

Many of the superiorities of this Coach are invisible—and therefore all the more important. But here are some you can easily see and check against competing cars: gasoline gauge on the dash, 8-day

ED REDDY NEW MATCHMAKER FOR ST. PAUL BOXING

BIG OUTDOOR SHOW PLANNED—NEW OWNER URGES FOR ACTION

FIRST BOXING PROGRAM SOON ANNOUNCED BY CAPT FAWCETT

St. Paul, July 30.—Edward J. (Ed- dy) Reddy is the new matchmaker for the St. Paul half of the Twin Cities Athletic association, into which Capt. Billy Fawcett has combined the two franchises.

Capt. Fawcett announced the completion of his new organization to- day. At the same time he said that plans were progressing so rapidly that the personnel and date of his first boxing program would be ready for publication within a few days.

It is Fawcett's plan to make the first card a combined St. Paul and Minneapolis affair with which the new regime is boxing here will be introduced on a grand scale. It is Fawcett's notion that boxing interest must be awakened by something rather explosive in the first program, and he is calling in both Jack Reddy and Eddie Reddy to unite in the opening venture.

The business of making boxing matches is not a new one to Eddie Reddy. He was the first matchmaker St. Paul had under legalized boxing when Louis F. Dow held the first franchise. Reddy had qualified for the post at that time by five years in New York, where he introduced both Mike and Tom Gibbons and handled the affairs for that period.

Reddy's first important match was between Tommy Gibbons and Billy Miske, the first meeting between these two after they had sprung in- to national prominence. In the same season he had Billy Whelan against Eddie Wallace, then two of the great- est featherweights in the country. Mike O'Dowd fought Harry Gilmore in another important fight of the year and Mike Gibbons opposed Jim- my Perry.

Since resigning from the past, Reddy's interest in boxing has been informal but keen. He has had but little official connection with the game except as manager for a time of Dago Joe Gans.—St. Paul Daily News.

Unified Faculties

We talk of faculties as if they were distinct, things separable; as if a man had intellect, imagination and fancy as he has hands, feet and arms. This is a capital error. We hear of a man's in- tellectual and moral natures as if these were divisible and existed apart. This is a necessity of language: at bottom these divisions are but names. Man's soul, his spiritual nature, is essentially one and indivisible.—Carlyle.

Producing Liquid Air

Liquid air is a transparent, limpid and intensely cold liquid, slightly blue in color, and of about the same density as water. It is prepared by subjecting air to great pressure and then cool- ing it by its own expansion to a tem- perature below the boiling point of its constituents (nitrogen, 194 degrees centigrade; oxygen, 183 degrees cen- tigrade). Its chief use is as a refrig- erant.

U. S. Rum Sleuths Will Be 100 Per Cent Efficient When Hootch Hounds Locate Loaded Hip-Pockets

Sleuthing of the kind pictured above will be common if U. S. Attorneys David A. Hart and Thomas E. Lodge are as successful as they anticipate in training dogs to assist them in their task of en- forcing Prohibition. They intend to specialize in trapping the wily hip-pocket class of violators.

GERTRUDE EDERLE MAY TURN TRICK

NO WOMAN HAS EVER ACCOM- PLISHED THE ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIM

New York, July 30.—Gertrude Eder- le, young American swimmer, will have the "bon voyage" of a whole nation behind her when she attempts to swim across the English channel next week.

Swimming sharps here all hope that the girl becomes the first woman to perform the hardest feat in athletics, but they are dubious about her chances.

"If any woman can do it, she can," Joe Ruddy, swimming star of the New York Athletic club and the world's greatest water polo player, says.

It isn't merely a matter of swim- ming that distance," he said. "It is a question of fighting water, tide and currents that pull on you just as much as an opponent on the leg of a water polo player. She is a strong swim- mer and has plenty of courage."

Miss Ederle proved, when she swam in record time from the Battery in New York to Sandy Hook, that she was capable of a distance longer than the 21 miles "bird line" from Cape Cris-Nez to Dover, but conditions otherwise cannot be compared.

No swimmer ever will be able to cross the channel on a direct line. To fight changing tides and currents in the channel a swimmer must con- stantly change the course and describe a "w" shaped route.

Miss Ederle has in her favor a form of training that has proved to be su- perior to the methods followed by for- eign athletes and she has been work- ing for more than a year with the channel fight in mind.

To Renovate Brush

Turpentine will clean paint brushes if they have not become too hardened. After that stage they can be made soft and clean by boiling in water in which a little lye has been added. Washing powder or soap can be used in place of the lye but the process will take longer. Do not let brush handles touch the lye solution.

42—Niceties of the Swing.

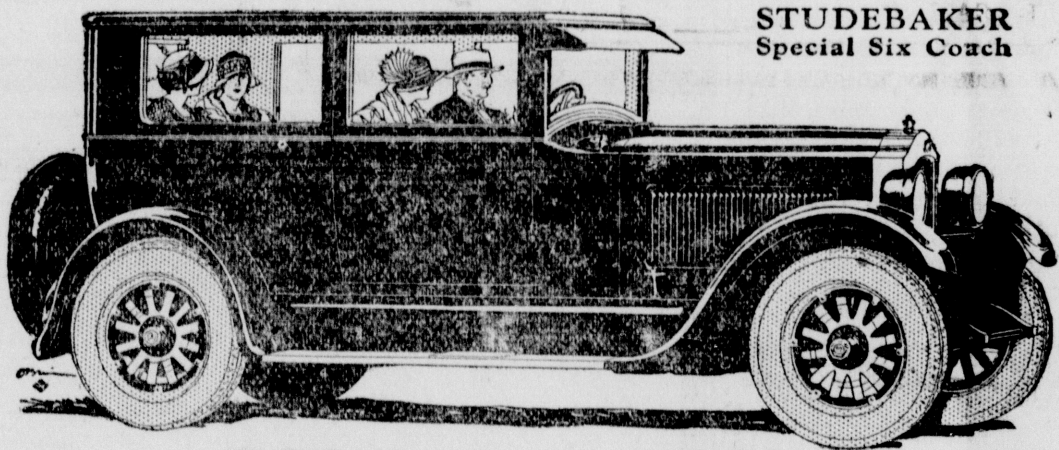

It takes years of golf to learn the little niceties of the swing that lead to the lower scores paving the way to the knowledge and execution of the ex- perts. Each expert has pet methods of his own, but a few hints can be acted on profitably by any player.

Perhaps the first general rule is to get a comfortable position before mak- ing a shot. This is not always possi- ble when getting a ball out of trouble, but it is possible to get fairly com- fortable from almost any stance. In teeing the ball, for instance, one finds an inequality of the ground by which one foot is not level or where the feet are on slightly different levels. Per- haps there is a bumpy place just back of where you have made the tee. Per- haps, with no apparent reason, you just do not feel comfortable. That should be the instant cue calling for a different tee. You have often seen an expert get all ready to shoot and then stop and change his tee to another spot. It may not be apparent why he has made the change, but you can rest assured he would not have made a perfect shot from the first tee and will be almost as certain of making a good one from his new tee.

One of the commonest errors is to grip the club before it is certain it is soled properly. Take the club in the right hand and place it correctly back of the ball. Then grasp it with the left hand, being sure you keep the club in exactly the same lie. Then you know the lie and grip are correct and you can dismiss both from your mind. The next thing is to feel your weight on your heels. If in the slightest doubt, tilt up the toes until you know all the weight is on the heels. The right heel must be flat on the ground until the forward swing is well on its way. It is as well if it does not come up at all until the ball is hit. It can come straight up without harm, but there must be no slightest turning of the foot to the inside until the ball is on its way. And it is practically cer- tain that you will find far greater ease in making the stroke if the left toe is pointed straight toward the line of flight and not splay-footed at all. Try it and you probably will adopt the method.

STUDEBAKER Special Six Coach

Why the One-Profit* Coach Excels

—it is engineered and built complete by one organization—Studebaker. It is a perfectly co-ordinated, harmonious unit. This means better perform- ance, greater comfort and increased mileage at an accepted coach price

AN AUTOMOBILE, like any other highly specialized machine, runs more smoothly—lasts longer—gives greater satisfac- tion—when its thousands of ele- ments are carefully co-ordinated into one harmonious unit.

Obviously, a better car can be pro- duced when all vital parts are de- signed, engineered and manufactured by one organization.

The Studebaker car is built on this "one-profit" principle. Not only all the engines, but also all the bodies, and all the axles, gear sets, differentials, springs, clutches, steering gears, gray iron castings and drop forgings are manufactured in Studebaker plants. This is not true of any other automobile in the fine car field.

The Studebaker, therefore, being built as a unit—functions as a unit—with all of the advantages of unit over assembled construction.

"Coach" in name—Coupe in quality

The Studebaker Special Six Coach is an outstanding example of the finer quality made possible by this "one-profit" principle of motor car manufacture.

This automobile is really a fine 5-passenger coupe, but is called a "coach" because it carries the lowest price at which an enclosed car has ever been sold on the famous Studebaker Special Six chassis.

In this Coach fine grades of upholstery are used. You'll find the same quality of workmanship and materials in all hidden places that you see out in the open.

Many of the superiorities of this Coach are in- visible—and therefore all the more important. But here are some you can easily see and check against competing cars: gasoline gauge on the dash, 8-day

HOW ALIEN MAY BE NATURALIZED

Robert S. Coleman, District Naturalization Director, Explains Steps

OUTLINE IS VERY SIMPLE

Time Short to File Applications For November Term of Court

Robert S. Coleman, district naturalization director, was in the city recently, on business connected with his office, and has left with Clerk of the District Court, W. A. M. Johnston, a carefully prepared outline of the procedure that each alien must follow in order to become a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Mr. Coleman states that there has been a great deal of confusion as to the necessary steps required in taking out citizenship papers, and he has made his outline as simple and as clear as possible, so that there may be no misunderstanding in the matter. Aliens who intended to make application for citizenship are advised to consult this outline in Mr. Johnston's office.

All applicants who intend to file their petitions for final citizenship for consideration at the November term of the district court must file their petitions with the clerk of the district court on or before Monday, August 3rd.

It is expected that there will be quite a number of applications for citizenship at the November term of the district court.

FORM "MINUTE MEN" TO COPE WITH BANDITS

Two county "minute men" organizations have joined the state drive to prevent bandit raids on small town banks.

At Faribault seven squads of five men each, to serve in each of the county's seven towns, have been organized. They are composed of World war veterans and are being armed with rifles and revolvers by the Minnesota Bankers' association.

Organization was decided upon by the Rice County Bankers' association in conformity with a movement of the state body.

Chicago county minute men, already armed and equipped to combat bandits, joined the statewide organization Tuesday at Taylor's Falls.

Other meetings are being held this week in McLeod, Le Sueur and Renville counties.

Ice Cream Social

An ice cream social will be given at the Swedish Baptist church tomorrow (Friday) evening. Ice cream and cake and also coffee for those who desire it will be served from 5 to 10 o'clock. This gives a chance for members and friends to enjoy a social hour and help a good cause.

"WATER SAFETY" KEYNOTE OF TALK

Alfred S. Moreau Gives Life Saving Demonstration and Instruction

AT LUM PARK YESTERDAY

Program Repeated Thursday by Moreau, Who is Representative of American Red Cross

"Water Safety" was the keynote of Alfred S. Moreau's life saving demonstrations and instruction at Lum park on Wednesday afternoon, when a number of Boy Scouts, Junior Boys, and others gathered to hear the representative of the American Red Cross.

Artificial respiration, modern life saving methods and canoe demonstrations were given special emphasis. Mr. Moreau proving himself an expert in all of these lines. One of the outstanding features of his work was the simplicity of the instructions. The methods employed are so simple that they appealed at once to the audience, and were driven home with such force that they will not soon be forgotten.

All of the demonstrations and instructions given by Mr. Moreau are of the most practical nature, and are the results of the demonstrator's own experiences and observations. As an example of the ease of learning from this instructor, a 14 year old child was taught in a few minutes to recover the body of a grown man and bring it to shore.

It was with a great deal of regret on the part of Mr. Moreau and the local chapter of the Red Cross, under whose auspices he is working in Brainerd, that no demonstrations could be staged on Wednesday evening. The municipal band was engaged to play at Lum park for the occasion, and a large audience had gathered to hear the life saving instructor, but because of the inclement weather and the failure of volunteers to report for work with Mr. Moreau, it was necessary to cancel Wednesday evening's program.

This afternoon Mr. Moreau gave instruction to the Girl Scouts, the junior girls, and others interested, and this evening will positively appear at Lum park regardless of weather conditions. Volunteers for the instructor to work upon have been engaged for this evening, so that the audience will not be disappointed.

The Brainerd Boys band will play in conjunction with Mr. Moreau's demonstrations tonight, and it is hoped that all will take advantage of this last opportunity, and witness the practical demonstrations which are to be staged. No one, especially those who live in this lake region, can afford to miss this public instruction tonight, and it is urged that citizens generally make an effort to be present.

The work of the Red Cross demonstrator is most interesting as well as very instructive. In one part of the program Mr. Moreau jumps from a boat into the water with a grown person clinging in front of him, swims to shore after an exhibition of breaking several holds that a drowning person is apt to use, and bringing his subject out on land, demonstrates the art of resuscitation.

Mr. Moreau views his work in artificial respiration as the most important part of his demonstrations. Resuscitation is one of the most valuable assets that any person can possess, according to the demonstrator, and is something that everyone should thoroughly understand. It is valuable in land as well as water accidents. For this reason special emphasis is laid upon this particular branch of the work.

Mr. Moreau has been with the American Red Cross for the past ten years, and comes to Brainerd very highly recommended. That he is fully fitted to carry on his work has clearly demonstrated on Wednesday afternoon. In addition to being connected with the Red Cross, he has been adopted officially by the Boy Scouts of America, and has been given the title of Special Field Scout Commissioner for the national organization. He is intensely interested in the Boy Scout movement.

This Thursday evening's program begins promptly at 7 o'clock. The Boys band will start its concert at 8 o'clock. E. A. Page director, states that the band has learned several new numbers for this concert.

HOW ALIEN MAY BE NATURALIZED

Robert S. Coleman, District Naturalization Director, Explains Steps

OUTLINE IS VERY SIMPLE

Time Short to File Applications For November Term of Court

Robert S. Coleman, district naturalization director, was in the city recently, on business connected with his office, and has left with Clerk of the District Court, W. A. M. Johnston, a carefully prepared outline of the procedure that each alien must follow in order to become a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Mr. Coleman states that there has been a great deal of confusion as to the necessary steps required in taking out citizenship papers, and he has made his outline as simple and as clear as possible, so that there may be no misunderstanding in the matter. Aliens who intended to make application for citizenship are advised to consult this outline in Mr. Johnston's office.

All applicants who intend to file their petitions for final citizenship for consideration at the November term of the district court must file their petitions with the clerk of the district court on or before Monday, August 3rd.

It is expected that there will be quite a number try for their final citizenship at the November term of the district court.

FORM "MINUTE MEN" TO COPE WITH BANDITS

Two county "minute men" organizations have joined the state drive to prevent bandit raids on small town banks.

At Faribault seven squads of five men each, to serve in each of the county's seven towns, have been organized. They are composed of World war veterans and are being armed with rifles and revolvers by the Minnesota Bankers' association.

Organization was decided upon by the Rice County Bankers' association in conformity with a movement of the state body.

Chisago county minute men, already armed and equipped to combat bandits, joined the statewide organization Tuesday at Taylor's Falls.

Other meetings are being held this week in McLeod, Le Sueur and Renville counties.

Ice Cream Social

An ice cream social will be given at the Swedish Baptist church tomorrow (Friday) evening. Ice cream and cake and also coffee for those who desire it will be served from 5 to 10 o'clock. This gives a chance for members and friends to enjoy a social hour and help a good cause.

"WATER SAFETY" KEYNOTE OF TALK

Alfred S. Moreau Gives Life Saving Demonstration and Instruction

AT LUM PARK YESTERDAY

Program Repeated Thursday by Moreau, Who is Representative of American Red Cross

"Water Safety" was the keynote of Alfred S. Moreau's life saving demonstrations and instruction at Lum park on Wednesday afternoon, when a number of Boy Scouts, Junior Boys, and others gathered to hear the representative of the American Red Cross.

Artificial respiration, modern life saving methods and canoe demonstrations were given special emphasis Mr. Moreau proving himself an expert in all of these lines. One of the outstanding features of his work was the simplicity of the instructions. The methods employed are so simple that they appealed at once to the audience, and were driven home with such force that they will not soon be forgotten.

All of the demonstrations and instructions given by Mr. Moreau are of the most practical nature, and are the results of the demonstrator's own experiences and observations. As an example of the ease of learning from this instructor, a 14 year old child was taught in a few minutes to recover the body of a grown man and bring it to shore.

It was with a great deal of regret on the part of Mr. Moreau and the local chapter of the Red Cross, under whose auspices he is working in Brainerd, that no demonstrations could be staged on Wednesday evening. The municipal band was engaged to play at Lum park for the occasion, and a large audience had gathered to hear the life saving instructor, but because of the inclement weather and the failure of volunteers to report for work with Mr. Moreau, it was necessary to cancel Wednesday evening's program.

This afternoon Mr. Moreau gave instruction to the Girl Scouts, the Junior girls, and others interested, and this evening will positively appear at Lum park regardless of weather conditions. Volunteers for the instructor to work upon have been engaged for this evening, so that the audience will not be disappointed.

The Brainerd Boys band will play in conjunction with Mr. Moreau's demonstrations tonight, and it is hoped that all will take advantage of this last opportunity, and witness the practical demonstrations which are to be staged. No one, especially those who live in this lake region, can afford to miss this public instruction tonight, and it is urged that citizens generally make an effort to be present.

The work of the Red Cross demonstrator is most interesting as well as very instructive. In one part of the program Mr. Moreau jumps from a boat into the water with a grown person clinging in front of him, swims to shore after an exhibition of breaking several holds that a drowning person is apt to use, and bringing his subject out on land, demonstrates the art of resuscitation.

Mr. Moreau views his work in artificial respiration as the most important part of his demonstrations. Resuscitation is one of the most valuable assets that any person can possess, according to the demonstrator, and is something that everyone should thoroughly understand. It is valuable in land as well as water accidents. For this reason special emphasis is laid upon this particular branch of the work.

Mr. Moreau has been with the American Red Cross for the past ten years, and comes to Brainerd very highly recommended. That he is ably fitted to carry on his work has clearly demonstrated on Wednesday afternoon. In addition to being connected with the Red Cross, he has been adopted officially by the Boy Scouts of America, and has been given the title of Special Field Scout Commissioner for the national organization. He is intensely interested in the Boy Scout movement.

This Thursday evening's program begins promptly at 7 o'clock. The Boys band will start its concert at 8 o'clock. E. A. Page director, states that the band has learned several new numbers for this concert.

Y. M. C. A. WINS EXTRA INNING CONTEST 6-1

DEMPSEY SINCERE IN WANTING FIGHTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, July 30.—Some suspicion has arisen as a result of the sudden desire of Jack Dempsey for action. Some of the boys who have chronic suspicions about every one, question the purpose of the heavyweight champion in demanding some fights. They think the belligerent mood which he has assumed is for the purpose of boosting his latest picture which hasn't been released yet because of a decline of Dempsey popularity on the public market.

The real purpose of the sudden notion Dempsey has taken to defend his title is just as uncertain as it was the day he stepped to the altar with Estelle Taylor, the day that was generally thought to have been the turning point in his career.

Dempsey gave plenty of reasons to believe that he never would fight again and that he would withhold the announcement of his retirement until he had capitalized to the limit on his title.

Now he is giving just as many reasons to believe that he is serious in his intention to return to the ring.

The champion never has been one to engage in loose talk. If Jack Kearns had been doing the recent talking about all the fights that Dempsey wants there would be reasons to believe that inspired publicity was behind the conversation.

When Dempsey tells you he is going to fight this year, you get the idea somehow that he means just what he says. He hasn't the art of Jack Kearns in giving you a yes when he means no.

As far as his wife is concerned, it is quite apparent that she hasn't any objection to Dempsey's profession or if she doesn't want him to fight again that she has set no order against it. Dempsey, from all appearances, is still his own boss and more of his own boss than ever since he fell out with Jack Kearns.

There is an angle, however, to the complicated situation that concerns Dempsey. One of the many stories, told with some degree of reliability, is that she and Kearns had a disagreement when Dempsey was courting her after she had heard some remarks that had been made about her. After they were married she is supposed to have told her husband that if he ever fought again she wanted Kearns to get very little out of it.

Kearns and Dempsey were generally believed to have worked for years on a verbal agreement that gave them a fifty-fifty split of all their earnings.

There is a rule of the New York Boxing Commission providing that a signed contract of a manager with his boxer must be filed with the commission before the manager can do business for his boxer in New York.

Previous to the Dempsey-Firpo fight, Kearns applied for a manager's license and the application was accompanied by a contract showing that Kearns was to get one-third of Dempsey's purses until September, 1926.

The insistence with which Dempsey is demanding that his fight with Harry Wills, which would mean at the very least a half-million dollars to Dempsey, be deferred until the fall of 1926, gives reason for the belief that Dempsey wants to be his own manager for that fight and get the full value of the purse.

BRAINERD TO BUCKMAN NEXT

LOCALS TO PLAY SECOND GAME AT THAT PLACE SUNDAY

TEAMS PLAY FOR SIDE BET OF $65, BOTH TEAMS GETTING IN FINE SHAPE

The Brainerd baseball team goes to Buckman Sunday to play a second game at that place. In the first game, played the Fourth of July, the Brainerd team took the game, but was forced to play ten innings, scoring five runs in their half of the tenth, the final score being 10-5.

The teams will play for a side-bet of $65, and both teams are getting into shape to put up a great battle. Gneiff will be on the mound for Buckman, and Jones for Brainerd. Both teams will have practically the same line-ups as in the first game.

A number of fans are planning to accompany the team. Buckman is an inland town six miles south of Pierz, and the good roads will make the trip a fine one for fans. A fast game is expected.

BUNTING GAME IN 9TH BREAKS UP PITCHING DUEL

NINE INNINGS NEEDED TO FINISH THE B. A. C. GAME

THORKILDSON HAS GREAT DAY, HOMER AND SHOESTRING CATCH

Game Tonight, 6:00 P. M.
Y. M. C. A. vs. B. P. O. E.
New Municipal Diamond

Standings of Teams
Team	W.	L.	Pct.
A. O. U. W.	2	1	.667
B. P. O. E.	2	1	.667
Y. M. C. A.	2	2	.500
B. A. C.	1	3	.250

Nine innings were needed to decide last night's contest between the Y. M. C. A. and the B. A. C., the former emerging victorious when they carried out a bunting game and upset the morale of the B. A. C. defenders. With the score one all and darkness almost putting the curtain on the fray, the Y. M. C. A. started out to get their runs, and so well did everything work in their favor that five runs rolled over before the last man was out.

Thorkildson had a fine time of it all. In the sixth inning he took Jarbo's high fly for the first out, and later in the same inning, with Jones on base, and Brick out on strikes, Elling drove a short fly down the right field line. Thorkildson came at full speed and took the fly in one hand down near his shoe tops, on a dead run. Then, to top off his mood he picked Jones first offering and sent it into the weeds for a home run, the first run of the game. All in all, it looked like a one man contest for a few minutes.

Carlson also made a great catch in right field, of Swanson's long fly. Carlson took it on a run, leaping into the air to make the catch.

The game was one of the thrilling kind that the fans go wild about.

One fan expressed the sentiments of most when he said, near the close of the game, that the games seen on the local diamond are superior to most games seen in the big cities at prices of fifty cents to a dollar and a half. Any Brainerd baseball fan who isn't in the habit of attending the twilight games this summer is missing some good sport. The last two game have been worth going miles to see, the first, on Tuesday, 1-0, the sole score made in the last frame, and last night the game being a 1-1 pitcher's battle for almost nine innings.

The victory puts the Y. M. C. A. in a position to threaten the leaders. Tonight's game should be as much of a thriller as the last two.

Game in detail:

First Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Swanson fouled out to Brick. Bollens fanned. Ringer singled, stole second. Thorkildson safe on Roderick's overthrow, but Ringer was caught trying to score.

B. A. C.—Carlson and Roderick fanned. Uddenberg flied out to Thorkildson.

Second Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Anderson out, Uddenberg to Elling. Engrbretson out, Jones to Elling. LeNeau walked. Dillan fanned.

B. A. C.—Thompson out, Anderson to LeNeau. Skiba singled. Jarbo hit into a double play, Peterson to Bollens to LeNeau.

Third Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Peterson singled.

down the left field line, out trying to stretch it into a double. Swanson singled and stole second. Bollens fanned. Ringer out, Roderick to Elling.

B. A. C.—Jones hit by a pitched ball. Brick fanned. Elling lined to Anderson, who doubled Jones at first.

Fourth Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Thorkildson safe on Roderick's error. Anderson flied out to Thompson. Engrbretson lifted a short fly to Uddenberg, who purposely dropped the ball, intending to make a double play on Thorkildson.

He did not carry out the play, throwing instead to Jones, apparently confusing the play with the infield ruling. LeNeau out, Jones to Elling. B. A. C.—Bollens threw Carlson out at first. Roderick flied to Ringer, who made his first error of the year, staggering back and dropping the ball. Uddenberg forced Roderick at second. L. Thompson singled over second. Anderson threw Skiba out at first.

Fifth Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Dillan flied out to Thompson. Peterson got his second hit, to left field. Swanson flied out to Carlson, who made a fine leaping catch of the fly. Bollens beat out a bunt, Peterson taking third. Ringer flied out to Uddenberg.

B. A. C.—Jarbo flied out to Thorkildson. Jones singled to right and Brick fanned. Thorkildson made a wonderful one-handed catch of Elling's fly to right.

Sixth Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Thorkildson hit into the swamp in left field, for a home run when Skiba lost sight of the ball. This was the first run of the game. Anderson whiffed. Engrbretson out, Jones to Elling. Uddenberg threw out LeNeau at first.

B. A. C.—Carlson singled. Roderick fanned. Uddenberg out, Peterson to LeNeau. L. Thompson singled over second and Carlson scored when Dillan let Bollens return of the ball get through him. J. Thompson batting for Skiba, was thrown out at first by Peterson.

Seventh Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Dillan and Peterson fanned. Swanson out at first. B. A. C.—Bollens took Jarbo's fly. Jones fanned. Brick out at first.

Eighth Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Bollens, Ringer and Thorkildson were all called out on strikes. B. A. C.—Elling fanned. Carlson singled. Soderlund out at first. Uddenberg struck out.

Ninth Inning
Y. M. C. A.—Umpire Vanni called the game on account of darkness, but at the request of both teams, called play again for one more inning. Anderson safe on Uddenberg's overthrow, taking second. Engrbretson out at first, Anderson taking third. LeNeau bunted, and Jones held the ball, trying to keep Anderson from scoring. Dillan's short Texas leaguer fell safe between three men, back of first base, Anderson scoring and LeNeau taking third, Dillan going to second on the play to third. Peterson's bunt scored LeNeau and put Dillan on third. Swanson fanned. Bollens bunted, and Dillan scored. Bollens being safe on first. Peterson scored when Jones overthrew third. Ringer singled, hitting the umpire, and Bollens scored. Ringer out at second.

B. A. C.—Peterson threw out L. Thompson. J. Thompson and Jarbo at first, in succession.

ANTHRACITE MINERS WANT NO COMPROMISE

ARE SET ON ADOPTION OF WAGE SCHEDULE

ASK FOR FIVE DAY WEEK AND AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

ASK PAY AND A HALF FOR ALL
OVERTIME IN NEW WAGE CONTRACT

(By United Press)
Atlantic City, N. J., July 30. — Anthracite coal miners increased their demands today and in so doing virtually served notice upon the operators with whom they are conferring over the new wage agreement that no compromise shall be accepted.

The union representatives today asked for a five day week, an eight-hour day and pay and a half for overtime. This request was added to the third in the general list of seven demands drawn up by the miners as the basis for the wage contract to replace that which expired August 30th.

Enlargement of the miners' demands was looked upon today as a virtual ultimatum to the operators that there "will be no backsliding by the union men."

SENATOR DENEEN OUTLINES COMING WORK OF CONGRESS

(By United Press)
Swampscott, Mass., July 30.—The inland waterways proposal and a plan for American adherence to the world court will be enacted into law by congress next winter, Senator Deneen, Illinois, predicted today after a day's visit with President Coolidge at the summer White House.

Deneen's conferences with the president were mostly on economic conditions in the middle west. The Illinois senator reported the corn belt in splendid shape with a large crop and high prices for farm produce in prospect and other sections generally in good condition.

MRS. BERT ZUCCA BURIED AT CUYUNA

Cuyuna, Minn., July 30.—Funeral services were held from the local Swedish Lutheran church for Mrs. Bert Zucca, 48, who died at the Miners' hospital at Crosby Sunday evening following a short illness due to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Zucca, a resident of Cuyuna for the last 15 years, besides her husband, is survived by five sons and two daughters: Chris Sorenson of St. Paul, Peter Sorenson of Cuyuna, and John, Bert, Carnet, Adeline and Ingeborg Zucca, who reside at home. Out-of-town relatives here to attend the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sorenson and children of St. Paul, who arrived here Saturday, being called as soon as her condition became serious.

INHERITANCE TAXES ENRICH MINNESOTA

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Requests to residents and non-residents of Minnesota enriched the state coffers $1,116,196 through inheritance taxes during the year ending June 30, 1925.

Of this total, $986,187 came from estates of residents and $130,009 from non-residents.

SAYS PARACHUTE JUMPING IS SAFER THAN DODGING CARS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—George Smith of Fort Worth and other Texas points prefers parachute jumping to driving an automobile in traffic.

He told Judge Manley L. Fosseen he would never sit at the wheel of a car again with two drinks under his belt if the judge would let him go back to his stunt flying and parachute jumping profession. The court gave him four hours to start for Texas.

ST. PAUL POST OFFICE EMPLOYEES SALARY RAISE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Post office employees paid through the St. Paul post office will receive salary increases and allowances totalling nearly $1,500,000, according to figures just received by Postmaster Charles Moos. The reclassification act became effective April 15. With the exception of the postmaster himself all salaries have been raised.

STRIKING COAL MINERS BESIEGE MANY COLLIERIES

TROUBLE RECORDED IN VARIOUS PARTS OF WALES
TODAY

PREMIER BALDWIN IN STRENU-OUS EFFORT TO PREVENT LOCKOUT

(By United Press)
London, July 30.—Bands of striking coal miners out on local strike in Wales went forth in the early hours of the day and besieged numerous collieries in the Ammanford valley. Six hours after midnight eight groups of strikers, each 400 strong and armed with clubs, took law into their own hands and forced the "safety men" at the idle mines to return, according to word received here. Before the clubbed men, the police were powerless.

With such pretentious news at hand, Premier Baldwin began another day's strenuous effort to prevent the threatened July 31st coal lockout throughout the land.

FRANK GOOD TO HEAD ARMOUR PLANT AT FARGO

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Frank Good, assistant superintendent of the South St. Paul Armour plant, will be head of the plant which his company has purchased at Fargo. Good and A. Watson Armour, vice president of the company, are now in Fargo getting the old Equity plant ready for operation this fall.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES ARE RAISED IN MINNEAPOLIS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Fire insurance rates are to be increased on all property except residences, household furniture and some kinds of fireproof buildings. The increased rates will become effective as soon as property has been inspected.

FEDERAL AGENTS AVENGE ATTACK

WARRANTS ISSUE CHARGE AS-SAULT ON GOVERNMENT AGENT

(By United Press)
Melrose, Minn., July 30.—Federal agents who came here to avenge the attack of bootleggers on Robert Bain, one of their number found the troublemakers had been "tipped off" and had disappeared.

Bain, former deputy sheriff of Mille Lacs county was attacked, beaten and evidence he had seized was destroyed. Agents who went to Stearns county to find his attackers conducted several raids yesterday, but found no one they sought. Neither could they find more evidence. Warrants were issued today for those who attacked Bain. They will be charged with assault on a government agent and with destroying government evidence.

STORY OF RICHES AND TITLES IS JUST THIN AIR

MRS. LARRY O'KEEFE HAS FAITH
SHATTERED AND DREAMS
LOST

IS NOW SEEKING WORK

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Faith shattered and dreams gone—Mrs. Larry O'Keefe is here today looking for a job. Five months ago her husband came out of an Austin packing plant with a story of riches and titles that were soon to be theirs.

Now "Sir Larry" has disappeared. Her home is broken up and Mrs. O'Keefe is seeking just plain work.

The magnificent home which Sir Larry contracted for has been turned into a furniture store. It was to be the counterpart of a castle in Ireland, together with which he said he had inherited a fortune and titles.

When Sir Larry's bubble burst, he disappeared. His oldest son is working in the fields in North Dakota. His youngest son is working in the packing plant where Sir Larry was a pigsticker in Austin and his wife wants a job.

A painstaking search for the "pig-sticking earl" has been fruitless.

CHINA SENDS FORCE TO SET FREE AMERICAN

1,000 CHINESE SOLDIERS GO TO PALMER RANCH IN MANCHURIA

EXPECT TO RELEASE DR. HAR-
VEY HOWARD, KIDNAPED
LAST WEEK

(By United Press)
Pekin, China, July 30.—The Chinese government has sent 1,000 men to the region of the Morgan Palmer ranch in Manchuria in an attempt to release Dr. Harvey Howard, American, from the bandits who kidnaped him last week.

Howard, associated with the Rockefeller foundation hospital in Peking, was kidnaped and secreted by bandits who raided the Palmer ranch and killed Palmer last week. The sending of the troops followed American consular and diplomatic reports on the incident to the Chinese authorities.

That Howard still lives is indicated by reports reaching here that the bandits are now demanding ransom for his life. The American legation understood that they desire money and bullets, though there has been no direct communication and official efforts to learn the bandits' terms have been fruitless.

MUCH SEVERE ILLNESS REPORTED IN CUYUNA

Cuyuna, Minn., July 30.—An unusual number of severe cases of illness have been reported here during the last few days, among them are: Mrs. John Ruikka and Mrs. John Palm who are seriously ill at the family homes, and Mrs. Frank May who has been very ill but is recovering at present, at the Cuyuna Range hospital. All are mothers of large families.

VENDOME HOTEL AT MOORHEAD CLOSED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—The Vendome Hotel, Moorhead, was closed today by order of W. A. Wittbecker, state hotel inspector. Insanitary conditions were given as the reason. Wittbecker refused to renew a license for the hotel, alleging the owners had failed to comply with orders to clean up.

RIFFS TO RECEIVE PEACE CONDITIONS OF FRANCE, SPAIN

(By United Press)
Paris, July 30.—The government was semi-officially informed today that envoys of Abd El Krim, Rifian chieftain, were enroute to Tangiers to meet the Franco-Spanish semi-official delegates and receive the peace conditions of the two nations.

BANDIT BRAIN OF SPECTACULAR ROBBERY TAKEN

JAMES WOODS CONFESSES AFTER GUN BATTLE IN CHICAGO

TAKEN IN CUSTODY WHEN HE WENT TO HOSPITAL TO HAVE WOUNDS TREATED

(By United Press)
Chicago, July 30.—James Woods, leader of the five desperadoes that yesterday afternoon perpetrated Chicago's most spectacular robbery and gun battle, was taken into custody today and confessed.

Woods was arrested when he walked into a hospital and asked to be treated for bullet wounds. He was the second to be captured alive. Two were shot to death by policemen and one is still at large with loot estimated at $10,000.

Frank Rodkey, a clerk in the fashionable Drake hotel where the robbery was staged, was killed by a bullet wound in the stomach.

Two Texas cowboys, one of them a full blooded Cherokee Indian, wandering about with drunken bravado, three Chicago gunmen brandishing pistols and shotguns, women knocked down and fainting, wealthy hotel guests running for cover, policemen firing at the fleeing bandits, an automobile chase through seven miles of congested traffic—these were the incidents related to police today by witnesses of the holdup and series of gun battles.

The Drake hotel is known as one of Chicago's largest and most exclusive hostilities. It is situated on a commanding site overlooking Lake Michigan and at a prominent corner on Michigan Avenue.

Hundreds of guests, many of them millionaires, and their families from all parts of the world were about the lobby and in their rooms when the roar of pistols and shotguns broke loose.

State's Attorney Robert Crowe who has assumed a personal leadership of the prosecution of the captured bandits, said the holdup was without an equal in all Chicago's history. All of the bandits had been drinking heavily and one of them admitted his nerve was bolstered up while intoxicated and lead him to go against his own judgment.

COUNTY GRAND JURY WORKS QUICKLY

Chicago, July 30.—Working with express speed, the county grand jury met in extraordinary session today and returned a true bill charging Jack Wilson, alias Woods, and J. W. Holmes, both of Texas, and William Mullenbach of New York, with murder in connection with the spectacular raid on the fashionable Drake hotel late yesterday. They are charged with the murder of Frank B. Rodkey, clerk of the hotel.

Mullenbach is still at large while Wilson and Holmes have confessed to participation in the robbery.

Witnesses told the grand jury that Holmes fired the fatal shots and not Ted "Texas Kid" Court, full blooded Cherokee Indian.

Court was shot by a policeman as he ran from the hotel and a fifth bandit, Erick Nelson, was killed in an exchange of shots after a running battle through the streets of the fashionable north side district. Holmes was captured in the hotel kitchen and Wilson arrested this morning when he applied to a hospi-

HENRY RINES BREAKS SILENCE AT LAST TODAY

TELLS CRITICS TO QUIT QUIBBL-
ING OVER MINOR MATTERS

SHOULD MINIMIZE PETTY DIS-AGREEMENTS, HE SAID

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Henry Rines broke his silence today on the government reorganization controversy and told his critics to "quit quibbling over minor difficulties."

All departments and officials should keep in mind the "relative importance" of reorganization matters and minimize petty disagreements, he said.

Rines is state comptroller and chairman of the "big three" commission on administration and finance.

Employees of the railroad and warehouse commission whose salary increases have been disallowed "could be paid on the basis of their salary before the increase and leave the rest for future adjustments instead of withholding their salaries," Rines pointed out.

"The difficulties over disallowances of salary increases are not of such great importance to warrant all this publicity and discussion," Rines said.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE AWAKEN-
ED BY 6:12 A. M.
SHOCK

(By United Press)
Amarillo, Texas, July 30.—An earthquake lasting thirty seconds was felt in northwestern Texas and eastern boundary of New Mexico at 6:12 A. M. today. Buildings in the downtown district of Amarillo were shaken, but no damage has as yet been reported.

Hundreds of people were awakened by the shock and the weather bureau and railway offices were swamped with hundreds of calls from surrounding sections asking for information of the shock. The tremor was also felt at Elkhart, Kansas.

Figured 40 Horses Needed to Extricate 40 Horsepower Car

(By United Press)
White Bear, Minn., July 30.—If a 40-horse power automobile goes into the ditch naturally it takes 40 horses to get it out.

So reasoned Thomas and John Mehigan, St. Paul near here last night. They went to the barn of Joseph Petter and borrowed a set of harness.

When Deputy Sheriff Ben Cluett arrived the harness had been attached to the car and the Mehigan brothers were looking for 40 horses. They paid fines of $25 each to Justice F. H. Peel today. They were charged with driving while drunk.

tal for treatment. One of his fingers was shot off when he stumbled over the shotgun he used in the holdup. Considerable of the loot has been recovered. Hotel officials estimated the loss at between $7,000 and $10,000.

State's Attorney Robert Crowe promised a triple hanging as an object lesson to criminals whose bold depredations have given Chicago the name of the "crime capital of the world."

ALCOHOL SEIZED TO KEEP CARS FROM FREEZING

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Alcohol seized by federal agents in a raid here will be turned over to the post office department to keep post office automobiles from freezing up this winter. A shipment seized yesterday amounting to 2,500 gallons was labelled, "automobile parts." The label suggested to federal agents the use of it in automobile radiators this winter.

CHARGED THEY PROMISED SCHALL WOULD "FIX IT"

CONVICTED BOOTLEGGER FILES
SUIT AGAINST QUARTET
FOR $850

ONE OF DEFENDANTS IS FORMER
CAMPAIGN MANAGER
OF SCHALL

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, July 30.—Charging that they promised Senator T. D. Schall would "fix it," F. A. Johnson convicted bootlegger, today filed suit against four men for $850 he said he paid them.

The suit was brought in Hennepin county district court against A. N. Jacobs, former campaign manager for Senator Schall, Frank Corneahy, Martin Knutson, former federal agent, and L. C. DeMars.

Johnson declared that while awaiting trial last October, a brother of Martin Knutson approached him and said he could obtain Tom Schall, then senatorial candidate, to represent him in court for $850. The money was paid, Johnson complained, but when the case was called in federal court Senator Schall did not appear. Johnson said he had been told that Schall could fix it and that he need not appear. He did not go into court and his bond was forfeited. Later he was brought in on a bench warrant and fined.

DIED OF STAB WOUNDS RECEIVED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Alfred Hoffman, 39, died last midnight from stab wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Philip Bilfolki.

The latter was arrested on charges of assault with intent to kill today, but remanded to jail when it was learned his victim had died. Charges of manslaughter or murder are expected to follow.

ANTHRAX FOUND IN N. D. CATTLE

RADIO MESSAGE REPORTS CON-DITION OF THE EXPEDI-TION

(By United Press)
Washington, July 30.—The Mac-Millan arctic expedition ships, Bowdoin and Peary, are wedged in the Melville Bay ice pack, according to radio dispatches dated yesterday, which were received at the national geographic society headquarters here today.

The ice was light and the expedition expected to break out soon after the radio message was sent.

COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY IN INTERVIEW

SURVEYED NORTHWEST CROPS
AND TALKED TO BUSINESS
MEN

BELIEVES CROPS WILL RESTORE
AGRICULTURE AND BUSI-
NESS STABILITY

(By United Press)
Minneapolis July 30.—"The northwest is coming back fast," said Colonel Joseph McIntosh, comptroller of the currency for the United States, after looking over northwest crops and talking to business men here. "Business is good—the northwest is coming back to stable condition," he said.

Colonel McIntosh said he believed the 1925 crops will restore agriculture and business stability in the northwest. The crops assure a heavy return to the farmer and that will assure financial normalcy, he said.

BRYAN'S ADDRESS IS CHARACTERIZED AS INEXPLICABLE TANGLE

St. Paul, July 30.—"A hopeless inexplicable tangle of expressions" is the characterization given by Dr. W. T. McElveen, pastor, Plymouth Congregational church, to William Jennings Bryan's last address.

"I do not like to speak in criticism of a man who is dead," Dr. McElveen said, "but to me Mr. Bryan's last effort seemed a strange mixture of bombast, misrepresentation and not a little imbecility."

"In his arguments he asks science to do things which it is in no way in the province of science to do and he blames science for events which were in no way caused by science."

YOUTH, VACATIONING IN STATE, LOCATED BY TOURIST BUREAU

Minneapolis, July 30.—The Minneapolis tourist information bureau has successfully located one of the thousands of tourists it registered as "camping somewhere in Minnesota."

The bureau registers the names and destinations of all visitors seeking information. As a result, Ben Ollerick of Butte, Neb., has had his camping trip cut short and is on his way home to attend his father's funeral. His father is H. A. Ollerick, president of the First National bank of Butte.

Ben Ollerick was on a camping trip with two other youths in the region of Lake Mille Lacs.

STEALING A MARCH ON MRS. HEN

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 30.—Minnesota farmers are stealing a march on Mrs. Hen by forcing her to scramble from the roost earlier in the morning to consume those "three squares" a day. Scientific facts compiled recently prove that hens increase their egg production in August if fed a noon day meal.

Three quarts of dairy mash, mixed with three quarts of skim milk or butter milk for every 100 hens, at noon, forces the hen to arise earlier to wedge in another meal and also averts the annual egg production slump in August, according to N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist at the University farm.

Poultry men are catering to the newly discovered idea—the hens may

HUGE SKELETON PARTLY DUG UP BY EARTHQUAKE

(By United Press)

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 30.—A gigantic petrified skeleton, which scientists have not yet decided was a mastodon or prehistoric toothed whale, has been discovered on Green Mountain, highest point on historic San Miguel Island, 30 miles from Santa Barbara's shoreline.

San Miguel Island was badly rocked during the recent earthquake, and many of its tall cliffs tumbled into the sea.

The skeleton's tusks measure 15 feet in length, and together with the mammal's skull were found protruding above ground at the summit of the mountain. The balance of the bones were buried in the earth's surface, but the entire skeleton was virtually intact.

May Change Geologic Theory

If the find proves to be a mastodon, it will disrupt the entire sequence of geology as worked out by scientists on the Pacific coast, according to D. B. Rogers, Smithsonian excavator. If it is a toothed whale, its discovery will be an equally valuable contribution to science and history.

"If it is a whale," Rogers said, "it died about the time the bottom of the sea arose, as it has been exposed to the air during the process of petrification, and is therefore imperfect and brittle. If it had petrified beneath the water, I believe it would have been as solid and hard as other specimens we have in the museum."

Capt. Bob Ord, veteran Santa Barbara navigator, made the discovery, and reported his find to scientific investigators. Except for the tusk of a sabretoothed tiger found there 10 years ago, no mammal had ever been found on the quake-heaved island before.

RULERS OF GOTHAM PEDDLERS CROWNED

New York, July 30.—Peddlers of the East side who vend from pushcarts everything from pickles to fur coats evidently have their periods of affluence, for 250 of them attended a $5-a-plate testimonial dinner last night at which the king and queen of the peddlers were crowned.

The queen, Mrs. Molly Barasch, wore a real diamond-studded diadem and a white dress embellished with lace. The menu was gold-embossed and a 48-page souvenir program was distributed.

Morris Loopseko, the king, and Mrs. Barasch were presented with four-foot-square gilt-framed testimonials attesting to their aid in promotion of the welfare of peddlers of the city. Messages from Mayor Hylan and other city officials were read.

At a magistrate's inquiry recently the king had figured in testimony that peddlers have had to pay graft for permits.—Duluth Herald.

PARKING STRICTLY AMERICAN WORRY

NO OTHER NATION HAS ENOUGH
AUTOS TO RAISE
PROBLEM

Washington, July 30.—Auto parking worries do not concern any of the world's habitants except those in the United States. The others walk.

With one-sixteenth of the world's population, the United States has 80 per cent of the world's supply of autos. The total registration of automobiles in the United States is rapidly approaching the 18,000,000 mark. Only one other nation has passed the 1,000,000 mark. Great Britain having attained a registration of 1,250,000.

These figures, revealed by a survey conducted by the department of commerce, show that many American cities have more automobiles than there are in the whole of Asia or Africa or South America. States like New York and California have more autos than these three continents combined, with Australia and New Zealand thrown in for good measure.

Consumption of gasoline and use of automobiles being closely related, the department of commerce also found that nearly 80 per cent of the world's use of gasoline is confined to the United States. Gasoline consumption in the United States has grown 600 per cent in the past 10 years and has jumped from 1,250,000 gallons in 1914 to over 7,500,000,000 last year.

Production of gasoline more than kept pace with this consumption until 1925. Last year the United States exported more gasoline than was consumed in this country only a decade ago. The production figures for 1914 and 1924 were 1,500,000,000 gallons and 9,000,000,000 gallons respectively.

Use of both automobiles and of gasoline is on the increase throughout the world, the department says. But the rate of increase is nowhere so rapid as within the United States.

Compared with the 18,000,000 autos in the United States, the remainder of North America has 660,000. In all of Europe there are nearly 3,000,000, the greater portion of which are in Great Britain and France. In South America there are only 220,000 autos, and in Africa only 105,000. Asia claims a total registration of 250,000 while Australia and New Zealand have 325,000.

SHORTHORNS AS DUAL PURPOSE COWS

(By United Press)

Waseca, Minn., July 30.—Cows yielding a satisfactory quantity and grade of milk also produce quality calves for beef, according to a survey completed by R. E. Hodgson, superintendent of the branch experiment station here.

A herd of shorthorns maintained here since 1913 has established an average production record, since 1919, 6,553 pounds of milk and 239 pounds of butterfat annually. These results show a marked increase over the average Minnesota cow which produces approximately 4,000 pounds of milk and 167 pounds of butterfat annually.

Steers from the herd averaging 550 pounds at 13 months, in a 180 day feeding test gave average daily gains of 2.42 pounds; with feeding requirements for each 100 pounds of gain as follows: 292.4 pounds ground corn, 119.4 pounds ground oats, 28.9 pounds linseed meal, 800 pounds alfalfa, and 194.8 pounds of alfalfa hay.

"These tests distinctly prove," Hodgson said, "that the same herd may produce results both in the milk and beef field."

YOUNG TOURISTS SEEING EUROPE WITHOUT MONEY

(By United Press)

London, July 30.—"Pike's Peak, or Bust" as a slogan of determination is giving away before a newer version—"Europe—and Bust."

England and the Continent just now are thronged with American student-tourists who are "doing" Europe on the slenderest purses of any great contingent of travelers that has ever come over from the United States.

Conversion of the former steerage quarters of the great passenger liners into "Tourist Thirds" with round trip fares of $150.00 or thereabouts, and 31 day tours at only $300.00 has brought into this country and Europe a good many thousand young hopefuls—hopeful, that is, that they will have enough funds to get back home on.

Capacity Shipments

The Cunard liner, Aquitania is recently in with 800 students traveling third class; the Leviathan, of the U. S. lines recently landed an equal number, and will shortly be along with more. The Royal Mail and the French lines, also have rehabilitated their old steerage quarters in the New Third Class as it is called, and report close to capacity shipments on several of their boats.

It's difficult now to realize there ever was such a thing as a hatpin.—Toledo Blade.

WHO KNOWS CHIPPEWA?

ON July 24, George Ericson of Spomer, this state, visited THE DISPATCH office and vouchsafed the information that Congressman Harold Knutson was to be formally adopted by the Chippewas at Ballclub. George said Harold was to be named "Que-We-Saince," which George said meant "Hole-in-the-Day."

Now Ericson, having lived in the Northwest Angle for many years, is an authority on that angle and many other angles and we presumed his knowledge of Chippewa is full and complete.

Now comes the Cass Lake Times, with letter postmarked July 29, informing us that "Que-We-Saince" means "Little Boy," and explains that Congressman Knutson was wearing his golf suit when introduced to the tribe, and one of the warriors exclaimed in Chippewa, "Our friend is but a little boy."

Our nearest Chippewa authority is Ed Rogers and we shall have Ed decide. The adoption ceremonies on August 8th will be formal and resplendent and will bring about a large representation of Cass Lake, Leech Lake, Mississippi and Winnibigoshish bands.

Congressman Knutson, says the Cass Lake Times, has long been in favor with the Indians and last election hundreds of Indians came to the polls and voted for Knutson. They knew that he had heeded their calls for payment and regarded him as the only man on the ticket that had done anything to deserve their vote.

The election of Knutson as a member of the Chippewa nation gives him a voice and vote in the council, but carries no payments or other rights of Indians.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN TOURIST CAMPS

THE commercialization of tourist camps is seen in the recent filing of incorporation papers in this state of "The National Auto Tourist Camps, Inc.," with headquarters in Minneapolis and a capital stock of $25,000. The purpose of the corporation and officers, George W. Beach, Robert E. Simms and Agnes C. Clement, is to acquire by purchase or rental tourist camps in Minnesota and other states, their improvement, and the sale of memberships in the camps.

New York City last year inaugurated a privately owned tourist camp with many conveniences. In our Brainerd Lake region are many privately owned tourist camps offering many conveniences, some making a small charge, others charging nothing, providing supplies, etc., are purchased at the resort.

The idea is new, however, of forming a state-wide and national organization, with a chain of tourist camps and membership in the corporation entitling one to the conveniences of the chain of camps so owned, and the plan indicates the growth of the tourist business and the evident desire to cater to every want of the tourist.

The day of free tourist camps, municipally owned, is passing; and it is the general rule of every city tourist camp to make a small charge for services rendered.

CHURCHES UNITING IN CANADA

A RECENT religious movement in Canada, tending to consolidation of churches, is something that offers theologians of the United States a fruitful topic.

With the consummation of an organic union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational denominations of Canada in Toronto, the Dominion will be definitely more advanced religiously, than the United States. The constituent congregations of the "United Church" will adhere to the denominational rituals they have always practiced, says the Waterbury Republican, but candidates for ordination and confirmation will not be required to subscribe to any formal creed.

A simple affirmation of faith in the Christian gospels will be accepted instead. The consolidation promises to be complete throughout the dominion except among the Presbyterians. Approximately 700 of their congregations have declined to approve it. Gradually a uniform system of church government is to be introduced for all the constituent congregations.

The participants in this religious merger may be called fundamentalists because they have acknowledged that the fundamental purpose of all of them is to promote the authentic spirit of Christianity the world over.

N. P. EXCURSIONS TO BRAINERD

WITH the growth of the St. Paul excursions to Chicago, $7 for the round trip, has come another development, heralded today. These excursion trips have paid so well that Chicago and Milwaukee people are to be favored with a round trip rate to St. Paul.

As we mentioned a few days ago, what is to prevent the Northern Pacific railway company, which last week end gave St. Paul people a round trip rate to Taylors Falls, what is to prevent the N. P. from running an excursion from St. Paul to Brainerd.

These week-end excursionists ask for no expensive equipment, no Pullmans, no diners. All they ask is day coaches. Such excursions would not overtax the accommodations of Brainerd. We have the hotels, rooming houses, summer resorts, etc., taxis, buses, automobiles to take care of a crowd. These week-enders want to see things, they want to cover ground, they want to explore our lakes, and do it in a day of daylight. They will benefit our hotels, our restaurants, our resort cafes, our Sunday special dinners. Let's get behind this movement and see if Brainerd can't get as much as Taylors Falls is getting. Let's see that Northern Minnesota gets as much attention as Southern Minnesota.

CO-EDUCATION is all right, but this co-ed proposition can be carried too far. We know a Brainerd man whose eyes get tired at times and who is using his wife's glasses in the interims. The oculist who fitted the wife's glasses says he never heard of glasses doing dual service in a family.

MANY sheiks are reported taking up art studies since the vogue started of painting pictures on girls' knees.

For Memory's Sake

By DUFORD JENNE

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

"DAD" STEINER paused on the landing. He listened. From the room at his right came the sound of sobbing.

We went on up the creaking stairs of the old tenement, through the reeking air of ancient cooking, thinking of how many times that room he had passed had held some one who had found the city ways too troubled to be happy. He knew by the sound that this time it was a girl who had drifted down in that dismal eddy of the great city.

The next day, the old man saw her. He was on the pension list of his old lumber firm, had carefully banked enough money to give him a decent burial; so the sunny days he spent in the park. That park faced the sea, and on his special bench it was his habit to rest, watching through the hours the traffic from the ocean up the great river.

The girl came and sat down on the same bench. She did not seem to notice him. He knew that she was near the end.

When she did look at him, he started. The memory of a girl he had loved long ago. Steiner moved restlessly, trying to take his thoughts from her.

That evening he sought out Mrs. Malone, who lived in the basement, and who was his one and only friend in the tumbling old tenement. He explained what he wanted.

She took her pipe from her sagging mouth and said tenderly: "Ye ol' fool, ye'd been up the city 'stead of here in clover, if it wasn't for the tender heart of ye. But I'll do it for ye."

She reported on the night of that day. "Sure the colleen was dyin' for a body to talk to. She's nigh the end. Ye see she was engaged to a salesman. They had everything fixed. He went South for his firm. An' she niver heard of him. His firm neither. They thought he skipped with the money—and left him in the lurch—an' her, too. Why ye so glum, man? She's nuthin' to ye!"

The old man gave his rare smile. From the basement Steiner went to Bause, the owner of the tenement, who lived in his ramshackle building. Steiner explained what he wanted.

"Sure," Bause said. "She can stay as long as she wants if you pay the bill. No, I won't say anything. None of my business as long as I get the coin."

The next day Steiner limped down to the great docks where until he had been pensioned he had been night-watchman for many years. Doors were opened for him until he faced the owner of the shipping company who controlled them. Steiner again explained what he wanted.

The gray-headed man at the desk smiled. "Still helping them out, Steiner? Well, you were the best watchman we ever had, and we owe you a good turn. I'll see what I can do."

He turned to the telephone, and Steiner saw him as he talked show sudden interest. When he turned he said: "They got track of the young fellow last week. He was in a hotel fire in some little town down South; burned everything he had up, and almost finished him. He's out of his mind now; he's in some state asylum, but they're looking after him; and they think if they could find his sweetheart she might be able to help him come around. I've got all of this from the manager of his old firm, so it must be right."

Steiner almost forgot his limp as he hurried back to the tenement. On his way he stopped at the Sailors' Five-Cent Savings bank and drew out the precious money that was to make sure he would have an honorable place to rest after his days were over. "I can squeeze a bit of my pension," he said hopefully.

He listened at the landing before the little room. He was sure he heard a little movement. He knocked. No reply. He knocked again. No reply. He turned the broken knob. A slow step drew near. The door opened a bit. The wide, staring eyes of the girl looked at him.

"I have some good news for you. Can I see you?" he asked.

Once in the room, he sat down at the table, while she stood. Quietly he told her what he had discovered. She stood dumb; and at his last words she fainted.

He stumbled down to the basement and brought Mrs. Malone puffing up. When at last peace filled the dingy room, Steiner rose. The girl looked up at him from the bed, her eyes wide no longer with despair and horror. "How can I thank you? Oh, how can I? I'll go tomorrow, and I'll send the money back just as soon—"

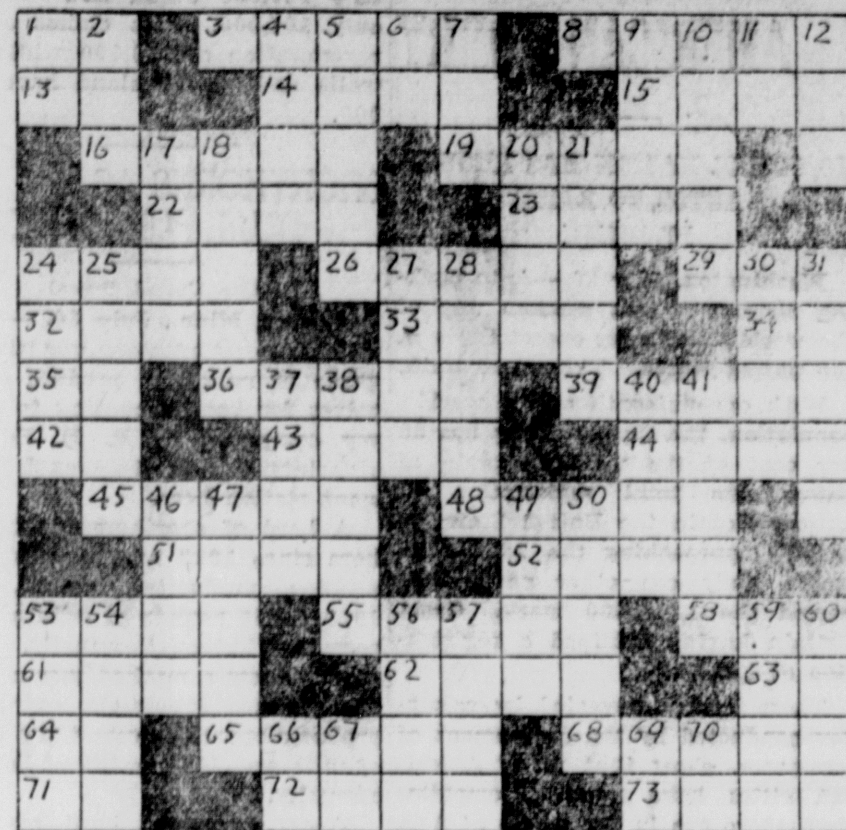

"Never mind the money," he said. "Whenever things are all right, you can send it. I won't need it for a long time, I hope."

Outside the door he listened to the brouge of Mrs. Malone and the happy chatter of the girl sounding faintly from within. Then he looked at the small bottle in his hand, a sweetly little bottle which he had wrenched from the girl's clenched hand when he knelt above her after she had fainted.

"Poison," Steiner muttered. "I was just in time."

And he went upstairs to his room to sit by the window through which came the fresh winds of the sea, and dream of a girl with brown eyes and a sweet curve to her chin, a girl he had loved and lost in another land in the land ago.

Boy Had Good Idea of Penalty of Lying

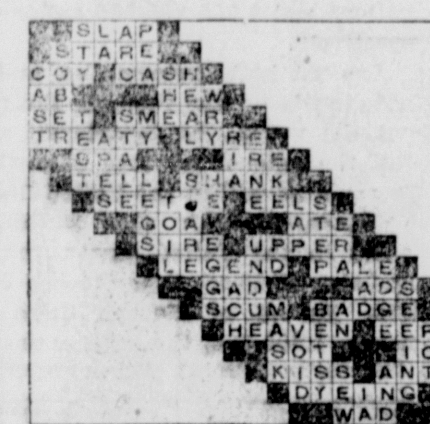

"You know where people go who tell lies?" said a court official at Newcastle, England, to a small girl in the witness box recently. "Yes, but I don't believe it," was the reply.

This incident has suggested to an English commentator an instance where the converse of the Newcastle episode occurred in the court of Judge Maule a few years ago. A small boy was placed in the witness box and was asked the same question, "Do you know where people go who tell lies?" on which Maule commented: "If he knows that, it's a good deal more than I do." However, the boy did know, for he was taken through a catalogue of offenses from telling lies to stealing apples, and replied "Hell-fire" to all of them. Counsel suggested that he was not competent. The judge demurred. "He thinks that for every wilful fault he will go to hell-fire; and he is very likely, while he believes that doctrine, to be most strict in his observance of the truth. If you and I believed that such would be the penalty for every offense we committed, we should be better men than we are. Swear him."

Traditions Tell of Many Sunken Cities

Traditions of sunken cities are always interesting. Both Killarney and Lough Neagh are reputed to have once been the sites of famous Irish cities, drowned as a punishment for the wickedness of their inhabitants. Holland boasts of several ruined towns sunk at the bottom of the Zuider zee, while off the coast of Holstein lies buried the legendary city of Vineta, whence (so fishermen say) the tolling of the bells in the church spires comes up faintly through the waters on quiet days. Most famous of all is Ys, said to have stood where now is the Bay of Douarnenez, a little west of Quimper, in Brittany. Ys was a magnificent city, built below the level of the sen, and it owed its destruction to a certain wicked princess named Dahut, who, to gratify an idle whim, opened the sluice-gates and herself perished in the ruin which she brought upon the city.

Bear as Photographer!

A student of forestry was camping with two friends in the wildest part of Allegheny park. Taking his camera, he rambled off alone to look for picturesque subjects.

He had placed his camera on a fallen tree, and had gone some little distance to get a viewpoint, when he saw a black bear browsing amongst some berry bushes. He was scared, and, forgetting his camera, sped back to his camp and companions. With them he returned to the spot, but in the meantime, the bear had disappeared.

The camera was still on the log, but a plate had been exposed. When it was developed it showed the frightened young man in rapid flight down the trail. The bear, investigating the camera, had touched the trigger with its nose.

Where Ambitious People Meet

WHEN a bank throws open its doors in the morning it says, in effect, to the public, "We are here to help people make profits."

Ambitious people are quick to see and to take advantage of the opportunities awaiting them at the bank. The bank lobby thus becomes a common meeting place for people on the way to success.

How does a bank help people make profits?

First, depositors receive a profit in the form of interest, on their time deposits.

Then, practically every one who borrows at the bank does it to help "turn over" his own capital—to make a profit on business transactions, or on the farm.

Even the person who merely deposits his money in a checking account does so with profit.

He prevents losses which might occur should he carry money with him.

He saves time, which is money, when he sends a check instead of going in person.

ADELE ALLSTON had never liked the idea of running true to form. She had no desire to be cranky.

As she drew into maidenhood she realized that she was rather cocky about her freedom from the emotions by which women were supposed to be swayed. She laughed at tales of women who grieved for a lifetime over love. And she could not understand many of the other things that writers, most of them men, wrote about women and their desires.

"I don't believe it," she said one day when a group of pseudo-Freudians had been considering mankind from its lowest elements, and laughing, had left the luncheon party.

Unusually boastful, inwardly, of her exemption from this silliness, she walked briskly down Beacon street, reveling in the violet shadows that the late afternoon sun struck from the old brick house fronts and pavement.

A pang of homesickness twisted her heart and suddenly she was not in Boston but in New Orleans, in her own garden, bending over a miniature tree and Robert Harrington was with her.

"I like the leaves," he was saying, "they're such a pretty green. And the flowers," he plucked a spray, "they're so fragrant. Mignonette, isn't it?—Rezzider—"

"Say ray-zee-dah," she rose as she corrected him, laughing, and, laughing, they looked into each other's eyes.

"Ray-zee-dah," he mimicked her, brushing her lips and then his own with the little spray of blossom he put in his pocketbook.

In that moment the first love of her first young womanhood had come full blown, into being—a love that had been as exquisite as the leaf and flower of the tree mignonette and as fragile.

How long ago that had been! "What a sentimental old maid I am," Adele thought. "I'm running true to form this time. It must be the springtime."

The conversation around the luncheon table came back to her. How outrageous those women had been. Surely few women could be addicted to those emotions about which they talked so boldly, glibly quoting Havellock Ellis and his ilk—especially that longing for children—that thing about dreams and wish fulfillment, and—

She came almost to a standstill, stunned by the impact of memory, then again her feet sounded their independent little tap-tap-tap on the walk. But her thoughts had changed. She had had dream children, two of them. There were Robert's children. They had never been babies, nor had they ever grown up.

The children had faded from her consciousness as the years brought forgetfulness of Robert, whom she had never seen since the ending of that brief sweet season of her young love. At Temple place, waiting again for official sign that all was safe, she glanced diagonally across the street. Next moment she had crossed, dodging an automobile and was standing face close to the plate glass window behind which were coats and suits and hats and stockings to match—all in reseda green.

"How lovely!" she breathed. "How springlike. Oh, how lovely!" Lovely all in their own right, unhallowed by any memory. At least, thinking it all over afterward, she had had no conscious memories then. All she felt conscious of was that here was just what she wanted, that it was too late to shop now—the store would be closing in a moment—but she would come in early tomorrow for one of those coats.

She turned from the window and bumped, forehead and breast, against the solid bulk of a man.

"I'm so sorry," she murmured, and then for some reason turned. The man had stepped just beyond the window filled with reseda green and Adele's heart missed a beat as he made a motion to turn. He did not swing all the way around, however; only his profile cut sharply across her vision and it was Robert Harrington. He was staring across the street as though searching for some one in the crowd, and, with conflicting emotions, Adele noted that over his face, so still as he stared, there was the shadow of ineffable sorrow.

"Oh! Here you are!" An athletic-looking girl, scarf ends flying, came swinging across the street. "Sorry you've had to wait." She slipped her arm in a rough tweed sleeve into Robert's arm. "Been waiting long, Dad?"

How dare she? That great creature, almost as tall as he and in that hideous yellowish coat? He would have had to stoop way over to speak to his children and they would have been dressed in green. Little green coats of satiny broadcloth with collars of velvet, just a shade darker, buttoned close about their throats.

"I couldn't find a thing," the girl was saying petulantly, that I can wear. "Everybody's crazy over that color—"

She pushed Robert round toward the window, "Rezzider green they call it."

"Say ray-zee-dah," the man spoke as though in a trance but the girl paid no attention. "Isn't it hideous?" was what she said.

"Oh, I don't know," said Robert Harrington as he turned his back on the window and on Adele Allston.

This Is Bloody Ground

The Maumee valley, of which the city of Toledo now is the distinguishing feature, is known in history as the Bloody Ground. It is said that it bears the marks of more battles and has caused the expenditure of more treasure than other territory of similar extent in the United States. The Indians held onto it longer than any other portion of Ohio. For it was their most prized hunting ground.—Eagle Magazine.

Scene from "THE WESTERN WALLOP" A UNIVERSAL PICTURE WITH JACK HOXIE

Noted Western Star Who Offered to Teach Wales to Ride, Has Accident

Jack Hoxie's latest starring vehicle, "The Western Wallop," to be shown in the Lyceum theater tonight and Friday, is a story full of tensely dramatic situations that make vivid the tragedy in the life of a man who is trying to win his way after having been paroled from a penitentiary.

This parole is accorded him as a reward for his efforts in preventing a wholesale escape from the convict camp, and after gaining his conditional freedom he goes back to the cattle country where he had spent most of his life, and where his prison record was unknown. On the journey he gains the gratitude of a young woman by recovering from a bandit the money she was taking to her father's ranch. He is given a job on the ranch.

Then came a number of situations that, because he cannot break his parole, appear to establish the man as a coward and gain for him the contempt of the woman he has learned to love.

Does Marriage Ruin Romance?

Why does the marriage ceremony invariably dim the glow of romance which has culminated in a trip to the altar?

And why is it that so many men are such devoted lovers when they are estly faced by few—very few—form the theme of one of the most fascinatingly entertaining motion pictures which has come to this city in a long time. It is "Husbands and Lovers," a First National picture, produced by Louis B. Mayer and directed by John M. Stahl, which will be shown at the New Park on Friday and Saturday.

Doris Kenyon Is Now First National Star

Baptism by a garden hose was Doris Kenyon's initiation to her job as First National's newest star.

Before the drenched lady had time to dry off after the first inundation, the prop boy, holding the hose, was called again to spray her. This went on time and time again for several days.

Lest this might dissuade some embryonic star from seeking a movie career, it should be stated that Miss Kenyon's continuous soaking was not a customary form of screen initiation, but was called for in the script of "If I Marry Again," the current First National feature at the New Park tonight.

Jay Walkers—And Drivers

The new police plan for dealing with jay-walkers may have profitable results, and the department is to be commended for any campaign calculated to reduce the species, but there is something to be said for the pedestrian who is not a jay.

In practice, all the "rights" of the pedestrian are not safe rights at all. When the north and south traffic is stopped he has no police protection against the jay-driver, or, worse still, the indifferent driver who whirls around the corner without notice. When the traffic is stopped and he has the "right" to cross the street in front of the high-power cars drawn up to the deadline, he knows that the moment the lights turn, or the whistle sounds, these high-power cars will rush forward and upon him with a bound while he is in the middle of the street where he has a "right" to be.

He is not a jay-walker because he is in the street at that moment. When he is in the middle of the street, where he has a right to be, when the whistle sounds, and the jay-drivers in utter indifference to that "right" rush forward with a bound, the pedestrian is lucky if he makes the curb in safety.

In educating the jay-walkers as to his duties, it might not be amiss to say something to the jay-driver about this.—New York Evening World.

The first printed advertisement appeared in an English newspaper 273 years ago. It told people about a new book and where to get it.

The immediate sales on that book showed that a lot of people were glad to have this information.

Soon other advertisements appeared. Book lovers looked forward to them for news of the latest and best books.

Now hundreds of advertisements carry news of buying interest to millions of people every day. The thrifty housewife reads them for helpful information in the business of running her home. The careful man reads them for news of the best buy in clothes—automobiles—or real estate; for opportunity or pleasures.

Every time you pick up a paper you hold in your hand information that will help you save money, time and trouble in practically everything you buy.

Read the advertisements—buy advertised products—and you will be practising to the greatest degree real economy!

ED REDDY NEW MATCHMAKER FOR ST. PAUL BOXING

BIG OUTDOOR SHOW PLANNED—NEW OWNER URGES FOR ACTION

FIRST BOXING PROGRAM SOON ANNOUNCED BY CAPT FAWCETT

St. Paul, July 30.—Edward J. (Eddy) Reddy is the new matchmaker for the St. Paul half of the Twin Cities Athletic association, into which Capt. Billy Fawcett has combined the two franchises.

Capt. Fawcett announced the completion of his new organization today. At the same time he said that plans were progressing so rapidly that the personnel and date of his first boxing program would be ready for publication within a few days.

It is Fawcett's plan to make the first card a combined St. Paul and Minneapolis affair with which the new regime is boxing here will be introduced on a grand scale. It is Fawcett's notion that boxing interest must be awakened by something rather explosive in the first program, and he is calling in both Jack Reddy and Eddie Reddy to unite in the opening venture.

The business of making boxing matches is not a new one to Eddie Reddy. He was the first matchmaker St. Paul had under legalized boxing when Louis F. Dow held the first franchise. Reddy had qualified for the post at that time by five years in New York, where he introduced both Mike and Tom Gibbons and handled the affairs for that period.

Reddy's first important match was between Tommy Gibbons and Billy Miske, the first meeting between these two after they had sprung into national prominence. In the same season he had Billy Whelan against Eddie Wallace, then two of the greatest featherweights in the country. Mike O'Dowd fought Harry Gilmore in another important fight of the year and Mike Gibbons opposed Jimmy Perry.

Since resigning from the past, Reddy's interest in boxing has been informal but keen. He has had but little official connection with the game except as manager for a time of Dago Joe Gans.—St. Paul Daily News.

Unified Faculties
We talk of faculties as if they were distinct, things separable; as if a man had intellect, imagination and fancy as he has hands, feet and arms. This is a capital error. We hear of a man's intellectual and moral natures as if these were divisible and existed apart. This is a necessity of language: at bottom these divisions are but names. Man's soul, his spiritual nature, is essentially one and indivisible.—Carlyle.

Producing Liquid Air
Liquid air is a transparent, limpid and intensely cold liquid, slightly blue in color, and of about the same density as water. It is prepared by subjecting air to great pressure and then cooling it by its own expansion to a temperature below the boiling point of its constituents (nitrogen, 194 degrees centigrade; oxygen, 183 degrees centigrade). Its chief use is as a refrigerant.

GERTRUDE EDERLE MAY TURN TRICK

NO WOMAN HAS EVER ACCOMPLISHED THE ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIM

New York, July 30.—Gertrude Ederle, young American swimmer, will have the "bon voyage" of a whole nation behind her when she attempts to swim across the English channel next week.

Swimming sharps here all hope that the girl becomes the first woman to perform the hardest feat in athletics, but they are dubious about her chances.

"If any woman can do it, she can," Joe Ruddy, swimming star of the New York Athletic club and the world's greatest water polo player, says.

"It isn't merely a matter of swimming that distance," he said. "It is a question of fighting water, tide and currents that pull on you just as much as an opponent on the leg of a water polo player. She is a strong swimmer and has plenty of courage."

Miss Ederle proved, when she swam in record time from the Battery in New York to Sandy Hook, that she was capable of a distance longer than the 21 miles "bird line" from Cape Cris-Nez to Dover, but conditions otherwise cannot be compared.

No swimmer ever will be able to cross the channel on a direct line. To fight changing tides and currents in the channel a swimmer must constantly change the course and describe a "w" shaped route.

Miss Ederle has in her favor a form of training that has proved to be superior to the methods followed by foreign athletes and she has been working for more than a year with the channel fight in mind.

To Renovate Brush

Turpentine will clean paint brushes if they have not become too hardened. After that stage they can be made soft and clean by boiling in water in which a little lye has been added. Washing powder or soap can be used in place of the lye but the process will take longer. Do not let brush handles touch the lye solution.

42—Niceties of the Swing.

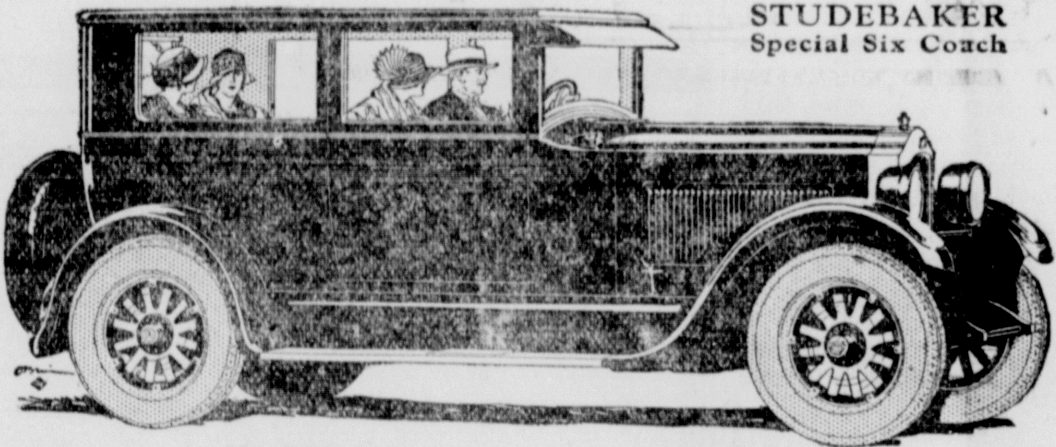

It takes years of golf to learn the little niceties of the swing that lead to the lower scores paying the way to the knowledge and execution of the experts. Each expert has pet methods of his own, but a few hints can be acted on profitably by any player.

Perhaps the first general rule is to get a comfortable position before making a shot. This is not always possible when getting a ball out of trouble, but it is possible to get fairly comfortable from almost any stance. In teeing the ball, for instance, one finds an inequality of the ground by which one foot is not level or where the feet are on slightly different levels. Perhaps there is a bumpy place just back of where you have made the tee. Perhaps, with no apparent reason, you just do not feel comfortable. That should be the instant cue calling for a different tee. You have often seen an expert get all ready to shoot and then stop and change his tee to another spot. It may not be apparent why he has made the change, but you can rest assured he would not have made a perfect shot from the first tee and will be almost as certain of making a good one from his new tee.

One of the commonest errors is to grip the club before it is certain it is soled properly. Take the club in the right hand and place it correctly back of the ball. Then grasp it with the left hand, being sure you keep the club in exactly the same lie. Then you know the lie and grip are correct and you can dismiss both from your mind. The next thing is to feel your weight on your heels. If in the slightest doubt, tilt up the toes until you know all the weight is on the heels. The right heel must be flat on the ground until the forward swing is well on its way. It is as well if it does not come up at all until the ball is hit. It can come straight up without harm, but there must be no slightest turning of the foot to the inside until the ball is on its way. And it is practically certain that you will find far greater ease in making the stroke if the left toe is pointed straight toward the line of flight and not splay-footed at all. Try it and you probably will adopt the method.

STUDEBAKER Special Six Coach

Why the One-Profit* Coach Excels

—it is engineered and built complete by one organization—Studebaker. It is a perfectly co-ordinated, harmonious unit. This means better performance, greater comfort and increased mileage at an accepted coach price

AN AUTOMOBILE, like any other highly specialized machine, runs more smoothly—lasts longer—gives greater satisfaction—when its thousands of elements are carefully co-ordinated into one harmonious unit.

Obviously, a better car can be produced when all vital parts are designed, engineered and manufactured by one organization.

The Studebaker car is built on this "one-profit" principle. Not only all the engines, but also all the bodies, and all the axles, gear sets, differentials, springs, clutches, steering gears, gray iron castings and drop forgings are manufactured in Studebaker plants. This is not true of any other automobile in the fine car field.

The Studebaker, therefore, being built as a unit—functions as a unit—with all of the advantages of unit over assembled construction.

"Coach" in name—Coupe in quality

The Studebaker Special Six Coach is an outstanding example of the finer quality made possible by this "one-profit" principle of motor car manufacture.

This automobile is really a fine 5-passenger coupe, but is called a "coach" because it carries the lowest price at which an enclosed car has ever been sold on the famous Studebaker Special Six chassis.

In this Coach fine grades of upholstery are used. You'll find the same quality of workmanship and materials in all hidden places that you see out in the open.

Many of the superiorities of this Coach are invisible—and therefore all the more important. But here are some you can easily see and check against competing cars: gasoline gauge on the dash, 8-day

By a "one-profit" car we mean a motor car that, in its vital parts, is manufactured by one organization—thus cutting out the extra profits and overheads which arise when vital parts are bought from others. There are only two cars that can be thus classified, because—clock, automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, door pockets, rear window curtains, ash receiver, trunk rack, ornamental pull-cord, cowl ventilator, stop light, dome light, tire carrier locked by the same key that locks door, and the splendid coincidental lock to ignition and steering wheel. Lights are operated from a switch on the steering wheel which is left free for this convenience by the elimination of the spark lever. In all Studebakers the spark is automatically controlled by the speed of the motor.

—of all the makes of passenger cars built in the United States, only 2 make all their own motors, bodies, clutches, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials, steering gear, gray iron castings and drop forgings. One of these 2 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

In its insistence upon comfort, this car is typically Studebaker. There is comfort in the extra heavy cushions—in the big springs—in the full balloon tires for which steering gear, fenders, etc., have been specially designed—in the ease with which passengers may enter or leave the rear of the car—in the extra large windows and windshield.

You can buy all this style, comfort and performance at the price because this is the only "one-profit" coach on the market today.

Buy now—no "yearly models"

You may buy this Coach today—or on any day of the year—with the assurance that there will be no "annual announcement" to make it artificially a "last year's model."

For Studebaker has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of cars every year. Instead, Studebakers will be kept up to date all of the time.

Therefore you can buy this Coach in safety NOW.

The car that put the War in Warren

Jim Warren bought a car—the "Gingerbread Six."

Never heard of it before, but he happened to be walking along Automobile Row and during a lapse moment his foot slipped—he stepped inside.

"Nifty boat," said the salesman.

"Not bad," said Jim, as paint and doo-dabs got in their hypnotic work.

"But why isn't it advertised?" asked Jim.

"Don't need to advertise a job like that," was the forearmed reply. Sounded logical. But—

Six months later Jim had a collection of bolts and grease-cups and broken springs and disjointed steering mechanism and a motor that almost ran.

"Never again!" said Jim. "The car that's little known and never advertised hasn't much responsibility; little to live up to. Before I buy another car—or another anything—I'm going to get the facts. I'm going to read the advertisements about automobiles—or whatever I'm buying."

Advertisements are an invaluable guide to intelligent buying. Read them regularly.

OUTLINE IS VERY SIMPLE

Time Short to File Applications For November Term of Court

Robert S. Coleman, district naturalization director, was in the city recently, on business connected with his office, and has left with Clerk of the District Court, W. A. M. Johnstone, a carefully prepared outline of the procedure that each alien must follow in order to become a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Mr. Coleman states that there has been a great deal of confusion as to the necessary steps required in taking out citizenship papers, and he has made his outline as simple and as clear as possible, so that there may be no misunderstanding in the matter. Aliens who intended to make application for citizenship are advised to consult this outline in Mr. Johnstone's office.

All applicants who intend to file their petitions for final citizenship for consideration at the November term of the district court must file their petitions with the clerk of the district court on or before Monday, August 3rd.

It is expected that there will be quite a number of their final citizenship at the November term of the district court.

FORM "MINUTE MEN" TO COPE WITH BANDITS

Two county "minute men" organizations have joined the state drive to prevent bandit raids on small town banks.

At Faribault seven squads of five men each, to serve in each of the county's seven towns, have been organized. They are composed of World war veterans and are being armed with rifles and revolvers by the Minnesota Bankers' association.

Organization was decided upon by the Rice County Bankers' association in conformity with a movement of the state body.

Chicago county minute men, already armed and equipped to combat bandits, joined the statewide organization Tuesday at Taylor's Falls.

Other meetings are being held this week in McLeod, Le Sueur and Renville counties.

"WATER SAFETY" KEYNOTE OF TALK

Alfred S. Moreau Gives Life Saving Demonstration and Instruction

AT LUM PARK YESTERDAY

Program Repeated Thursday by Moreau, Who is Representative of American Red Cross

"Water Safety" was the keynote of Alfred S. Moreau's life saving demonstrations and instruction at Lum park on Wednesday afternoon, when a number of Boy Scouts, Junior Boys, and others gathered to hear the representative of the American Red Cross.

Artificial respiration, modern life saving methods and canoe demonstrations were given special emphasis Mr. Moreau proving himself an expert in all of these lines. One of the outstanding features of his work was the simplicity of the instructions. The methods employed are so simple that they appealed at once to the audience, and were driven home with such force that they will not soon be forgotten.

All of the demonstrations and instructions given by Mr. Moreau are of the most practical nature, and are the results of the demonstrator's own experiences and observations. As an example of the ease of learning from this instructor, a 14 year old child was taught in a few minutes to recover the body of a grown man and bring it to shore.

It was with a great deal of regret on the part of Mr. Moreau and the local chapter of the Red Cross, under whose auspices he is working in Brainerd, that no demonstrations could be staged on Wednesday evening. The municipal band was engaged to play at Lum park for the occasion, and a large audience had gathered to hear the life saving instructor, but because of the inclement weather and the failure of volunteers to report for work with Mr. Moreau, it was necessary to cancel Wednesday evening's program.

This afternoon Mr. Moreau gave instruction to the Girl Scouts, the Junior girls, and others interested, and this evening will positively appear at Lum park regardless of weather conditions. Volunteers for the instructor to work upon have been engaged for this evening, so that the audience will not be disappointed.

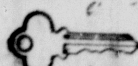

The Brainerd Boys band will play in conjunction with Mr. Moreau's demonstrations tonight, and it is hoped that all will take advantage of this last opportunity, and witness the practical demonstrations which are to be staged. No one, especially those who live in this lake region, can afford to miss this public instruction tonight, and it is urged that citizens generally make an effort to be present.

The work of the Red Cross demonstrator is most interesting as well as very instructive. In one part of the program Mr. Moreau jumps from a boat into the water with a grown person clinging in front of him, swims to shore after an exhibition of breaking several holds that a drowning person is apt to use, and bringing his subject out on land, demonstrates the art of resuscitation.

Mr. Moreau views his work in artificial respiration as the most important part of his demonstrations. Resuscitation is one of the most valuable assets that any person can possess, according to the demonstrator, and is something that everyone should thoroughly understand. It is valuable in land as well as water accidents. For this reason special emphasis is laid upon this particular branch of the work.

Mr. Moreau has been with the American Red Cross for the past ten years, and comes to Brainerd very highly recommended. That he is ably fitted to carry on his work has clearly demonstrated on Wednesday afternoon. In addition to being connected with the Red Cross, he has been adopted officially by the Boy Scouts of America, and has been given the title of Special Field Scout Commissioner for the national organization. He is intensely interested in the Boy Scout movement.

This Thursday evening's program begins promptly at 7 o'clock. The Boys band will start its concert at 8 o'clock. E. A. Page director, states that the band has learned several new numbers for this concert.

Uniform System Also Adopted For Any Business Houses Wishing to Decorate Stores

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Elks convention, the contract was let to the Pioneer Decorating and Display Company of St. Paul for the decoration of streets and for such business houses as may desire to decorate, a uniform service thus being provided for the convention of August 20, 21 and 22.

It is the hope of the convention committee that the city generally will join in the approved system of decoration, and not adopt any haphazard style by buying promiscuously or from outside solicitors.

Y. M. C. A. WINS EXTRA INNING CONTEST 6-1

DEMPSEY SINCERE IN WANTING FIGHTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, July 30.—Some suspicion has arisen as a result of the sudden desire of Jack Dempsey for action. Some of the boys who have chronic suspicions about every one, question the purpose of the heavyweight champion in demanding some fights. They think the belligerent mood which he has assumed is for the purpose of boosting his latest picture which hasn't been released yet because of a decline of Dempsey popularity on the public market.

The real purpose of the sudden notion Dempsey has taken to defend his title is just as uncertain as it was the day he stepped to the altar with Estelle Taylor, the day that was generally thought to have been the turning point in his career.

Dempsey gave plenty of reasons to believe that he never would fight again and that he would withhold the announcement of his retirement until he had capitalized to the limit on his title.

Now he is giving just as many reasons to believe that he is serious in his intention to return to the ring.

The champion never has been one to engage in loose talk. If Jack Kearns had been doing the recent talking about all the fights that Dempsey wants there would be reasons to believe that inspired publicity was behind the conversation.

When Dempsey tells you he is going to fight this year, you get the idea somehow that he means just what he says. He hasn't the art of Jack Kearns in giving you a yes when he means no.

As far as his wife is concerned, it is quite apparent that she hasn't any objection to Dempsey's profession or if she doesn't want him to fight again that she has set no order against it. Dempsey, from all appearances, is still his own boss and more of his own boss than ever since he fell out with Jack Kearns.

There is an angle, however, to the complicated situation that concerns Dempsey. One of the many stories, told with some degree of reliability, is that she and Kearns had a disagreement when Dempsey was courting her after she had heard some remarks that had been made about her. After they were married she is supposed to have told her husband that if he ever fought again she wanted Kearns to get very little out of it.

Kearns and Dempsey were generally believed to have worked for years on a verbal agreement that gave them a fifty-fifty split of all their earnings.

There is a rule of the New York Boxing Commission providing that a signed contract of a manager with his boxer must be filed with the commission before the manager can do business for his boxer in New York.

Previous to the Dempsey-Firpo fight, Kearns applied for a manager's license and the application was accompanied by a contract showing that Kearns was to get one-third of Dempsey's purses until September, 1926.

The insistence with which Dempsey is demanding that his fight with Harry Wills, which would mean at the very least a half-million dollars to Dempsey, be deferred until the fall of 1926, gives reason for the belief that Dempsey wants to be his own manager for that fight and get the full value of the purse.

BRainerd TO BUCKMAN NEXT

LOCALS TO PLAY SECOND GAME AT THAT PLACE SUNDAY

TEAMS PLAY FOR SIDE BET OF $65, BOTH TEAMS GETTING IN FINE SHAPE

The Brainerd baseball team goes to Buckman Sunday to play a second game at that place. In the first game, played the Fourth of July, the Brainerd team took the game, but was forced to play ten innings, scoring five runs in their half of the tenth, the final score being 10-5.

The teams will play for a side-bet of $65, and both teams are getting into shape to put up a great battle. Gneiff will be on the mound for Buckman, and Jones for Brainerd. Both teams will have practically the same line-ups as in the first game.

A number of fans are planning to accompany the team. Buckman is an inland town six miles south of Pierz, and the good roads will make the trip a fine one for fans. A fast game is expected.

BUNTING GAME IN 9TH BREAKS UP PITCHING DUEL

NINE INNINGS NEEDED TO FINISH THE B. A. C. GAME

THORKILDSON HAS GREAT DAY, HOMER AND SHOESTRING CATCH

Game Tonight, 6:00 P. M. Y. M. C. A. vs. B. P. O. E. New Municipal Diamond

Standings of Teams

Team	W	L	Pct
A. O. U. W.	2	1	.667
B. P. O. E.	3	1	.667
Y. M. C. A.	2	2	.500
H. A. C.	1	3	.250

Nine innings were needed to decide last night's contest between the Y. M. C. A. and the B. A. C., the former emerging victorious when they carried out a bunting game and upset the morale of the B. A. C. defenders. With the score one all and darkness almost putting the curtain on the fray, the Y. M. C. A. started out to get their runs, and so well did everything work in their favor that five runs rolled over before the last man was out.

Thorkildson had a fine time of it all. In the sixth inning he took Jarbo's high fly for the first out, and later in the same inning, with Jones on base, and Brick out on strikes, Elling drove a short fly down the right field line. Thorkildson came at full speed and took the fly in one hand down near his shoe tops, on a dead run. Then, to top off his mood he picked Jones first offering and sent it into the weeds for a home run, the first run of the game. All in all, it looked like a one man contest for a few minutes.

Carlson also made a great catch in right field, of Swanson's long fly. Carlson took it on a run, leaping into the air to make the catch.

The game was one of the thrilling kind that the fans go wild about.

One fan expressed the sentiments of most when he said, near the close of the game, that the games seen on the local diamond are superior to most games seen in the big cities at prices of fifty cents to a dollar and a half. Any Brainerd baseball fan who isn't in the habit of attending the twilight games this summer is missing some good sport. The last two game have been worth going miles to see, the first, on Tuesday, 1-0, the sole score made in the last frame, and last night the game being a 1-1 pitcher's battle for almost nine innings.

The victory puts the Y. M. C. A. in a position to threaten the leaders. Tonight's game should be as much of a thriller as the last two. Game in detail:

First Inning Y. M. C. A.—Swanson fouled out to Brick. Bollens fanned. Ringer singled, stole second. Thorkildson safe on Roderick's overthrow, but Ringer was caught trying to score. B. A. C.—Carlson and Roderick fanned. Uddenberg flied out to Thorkildson.

Second Inning Y. M. C. A.—Anderson out, Uddenberg to Elling. Engrbretson out, Jones to Elling. LeNeau walked, Dillan fanned. B. A. C.—Thompson out, Anderson to LqNeau. Skiba singled, Jarbo hit into a double play, Peterson to Bollens to LeNeau.

Third Inning Y. M. C. A.—Peterson singled to Carlson, Rf. Ringer singled, stole second. Thorkildson safe on Roderick's overthrow, but Ringer was caught trying to score. B. A. C.—Carlson and Roderick fanned. Uddenberg flied out to Thorkildson.

Fourth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Thorkildson safe on Roderick's error. Anderson flied out to Thompson. Engrbretson flied a short fly to Uddenberg, who purposefully dropped the ball, intending to make a double play on Thorkildson. He did not carry out the play, throwing instead to Jones, apparently confusing the play with the infield ruling. LeNeau out, Jones to Elling.

Fifth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Dillan flied out to Thompson. Peterson got his second hit, to left field. Swanson flied out to Carlson, who made a fine leaping catch of the fly. Bollens beat out a bunt, Peterson taking third. Ringer flied out to Uddenberg.

Sixth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Thorkildson hit into the swamp in left field, for a home run when Skiba lost sight of the ball. This was the first run of the game. Anderson whiffed. Engrbretson out, Jones to Elling. Uddenberg threw out LeNeau at first.

Seventh Inning Y. M. C. A.—Dillan and Peterson fanned. Swanson out at first. B. A. C.—Bollens took Jarbo's fly. Jones fanned. Brick out at first.

Eighth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Bollens, Ringer and Thorkildson were all called out on strikes.

Ninth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Umpire Vanni called the game on account of darkness, but at the request of both teams, called play again for one more inning. Anderson safe on Uddenberg's overthrow, taking second. Engrbretson out at first, Anderson taking third. LeNeau bunted, and Jones held the ball, trying to keep Anderson from scoring. Dillan's short Texas leaguer fell safe between three men, back of first base, Anderson scoring and LeNeau taking third, Dillan going to second on the play to third. Peterson's bunt scored LeNeau and put Dillan on third. Swanson fanned. Bollens bunted, and Dillan scored. Bollens being safe on first. Peterson scored when Jones overthrew third. Ringer singled, hitting the umpire, and Bollens scored. Ringer out at second.

Tenth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Peterson threw out L. Thompson, J. Thompson and Jarbo at first, in succession.

down the left field line, out trying to stretch it into a double. Swanson singled and stole second. Bollens fanned. Ringer out, Roderick to Elling.

B. A. C.—Jones hit by a pitched ball. Brick fanned. Elling lined to Anderson, who doubled Jones at first.

Fourth Inning Y. M. C. A.—Thorkildson safe on Roderick's error. Anderson flied out to Thompson. Engrbretson flied a short fly to Uddenberg, who purposefully dropped the ball, intending to make a double play on Thorkildson.
